MELLON GIVES U. S. STAND ON TARIFF

INDIANA MAY CLEAN HOUSE IN FALL VOTE

Both Hoosier Senators Are on Defensive in Present Campaign

Robinson Will Find Strong Opposition in Woollen, Business Man

Indianapolis—The Hoosier state is due for a housecleaning. Whether it will come before or after the election is of secondary interest just now because Indiana is not worrying about Republican or Democratic control of the United States senate, but about the whole future of politics in the state.

The exposures which have just come to a climax in the senate committee's investigation of the understandings between the Ku Klux Klan and Republican politicians would have had a great deal more effect if they could have been divorced from the personal and factional quarrels of Indiana politics. For the people of any state are always skeptical about pre-election sensations.

SENATORS ON DEFENSIVE

Both Senators Watson and Robinson are on the defensive. They will not poll the normal Republican vote. As for the president, the Indiana state Republican platform differs from him on the world court and farm relief. The truth is President Coolidge is today stronger in Indiana than either of the Republican candidates and if Coolidge had played along with the president there today would not be the slightest doubt about the result.

The people of Indiana do not believe all the sensational rumors that have been spread about the Klan's influence and alleged corruption in the making of appointments to public office but they are in a suspicious frame of mind and the sentiment may be summed in the observation of some disinterested observers who say "where there's a fire there must be smoke."

WATSON IS POPULAR

Senator Watson is popular in fact he is stronger than Senator Robinson and at present writing the senator would seem to have a fairly good chance of polling a 20,000 majority. Against him is Albert Stump, Democrat, a young orator of promise who has a substantial following.

Sensor Robinson's opponent is Evans Woollen, president of one of the largest trust companies in the middle west and an upstanding citizen. He has the confidence of only the Democrats but of many Republican business men. He is better known here than throughout the state. If he were stronger in the country districts his election would be a certainty. Indeed, he is a man of such high principle and ability that his admirers feel he will be prominently mentioned for the Democratic presidential election in 1928 if he carries Indiana this time.

Mr. Woollen is a low tariff man—a free trader but a moderate protectionist. He has been dealing forcefully with the tariff question. Fortunately for him the manifesto of the bankers and business men issued last week in New York has coincided to such an extent with his views that he will not lose so many business votes as he might otherwise have been the case on account of his argument for tariff revision.

DEFENCE WITNESSES TRY TO TRACE AIMEE TRACKS

Los Angeles—(AP)—Two new defense witnesses were attempting to identify tracks in a northern Mexican desert as those of Aimee Triangle McPherson, as the evangelist's preliminary hearing on conspiracy charges entered its fifth week.

The new witnesses who arrived here Sunday from Douglas, Ariz., are O. A. Ash, constable, and M. E. Erwin, photographer. Defense Attorney W. J. Gilbert indicated the testimony of Ash and Erwin would lay the foundation for evidence tending to definitely locate the shack from which Mrs. McPherson says she escaped after being kidnapped at Ocean Park, California, last May.

Superior Judge Carlos Hardy also was to continue his testimony relative to his dealings with the late R. A. McKinley, blind attorney of Long Beach, with whom the state charges Mrs. McPherson and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy conspired to produce mythical kidnappers to support the evangelist's abduction story.

"COWBOY ARTIST" DIES AFTER HEART TROUBLE

Great Falls, Mont.—(AP)—Charles M. Russell, famous "cowboy artist" died suddenly at his home here Sunday night. His death was due to heart trouble.

COEDS WANT TO CARE FOR ORPHAN BOY AS AID TO CLASSWORK

Chicago—(AP)—To bridge the gap between the theory on the care of infant and practical experience, coeds in the home economics special class at Lake Forest university have under consideration a plan to adopt temporarily a ten-month-old bouncing baby boy from an orphanage.

The girls in the special class are sophomores and juniors, from 18 to 20 years old. Their plan is to bring the child to the college and keep it in the girls' dormitory. The baby would be passed along from room to room with each student taking entire care of it for a day, from wheeling the perambulator about the campus to giving the child an airing, to walking the floor at night if that became necessary.

"Remarkable as it may seem," Miss Payne, teacher of the class said, "the coeds almost to a girl want a boy. I think the very fact that our girls could conceive such a serious plan is a perfect slap at charges of Wilfred O. Cross, concerning the morals of college girls."

QUEEN MARIE STARTS TOUR TOWARD WEST

Ten Special Railway Cars Will Be Her Home for Two Months' Trip

New York—(AP)—Queen Marie of Roumania, Monday was aboard the rolling palace of ten special railway cars that will be her home for the two months of her western tour.

Leaving New York at 7:50 Monday morning she was due at Buffalo at 8 o'clock in the evening. She will make a radio talk there from station WGR, and will leave Buffalo for Niagara Falls early Tuesday morning. Her itinerary Monday called for two minute stops, one at Albany at 1:30 and the other at Syracuse at 4:20 in the afternoon.

Queen Marie, with her children, Prince Nicholas and Princess Ileana, and her retinue, boarded the train at Grand Central station at midnight after attending a benefit performance at the Metropolitan Opera house of an interpretation of the "Lily of Life," a fairy tale written by the queen.

QUEEN GREETED STATES

Forty-eight women one from each state in the Union have received greetings from the queen in her own handwriting for the citizens of their states. Queen Marie presented the greetings at a luncheon given by Mr. and Mrs. Ira Nelson Morris at the Biltmore.

After the presentation, Queen Marie went to the Plaza hotel to a reception arranged by the North American Newspaper alliance. Dr. Frank Buchanan, soul surgeon who crossed on the Levantian with the queen in her own party and whose religious precepts are under investigation at Princeton, and 150 followers were disappointed when the queen failed to appear at his headquarters as they expected.

Frederick Moore, secretary of the Mary Hill museum, Washington state, who has had charge of the press arrangements for the trip, was not aboard the queen's special train Monday. He withdrew upon request when John G. Carroll, general counsel for the Baltimore and Ohio railroad and the queen's host for the trip.

HOLD MAN FOR MURDER OF INDIAN POLICEMAN

Rhineland—(AP)—Arrested after an extensive federal inquiry into the slaying of William Mattigosh, Indian policeman, at Lac du Flambeau, John Krupski, 37, is being held at the county jail here. He will be arraigned on a murder charge before United States Commissioner Joseph Hildebrand.

Mattigosh, an Indian reservation officer, was shot the night of Oct. 2, when he intercepted a robber at a Lac du Flambeau store. The thief fled. Mattigosh lived several hours and gave officers a detailed description of his assailant. Krupski said his home is in Park Falls.

ONE KILLED, ONE HURT IN AUTO CRASH SUNDAY

Edgewood, Iowa—(AP)—J. L. Knoerschild, local agent of the International Harvester company, living at Manchester, Iowa, was killed near here Sunday when an automobile in which he was riding was struck by a car driven by Dr. Hudson of Prairie Du Chien. The physician suffered a broken arm and internal injuries and his condition is believed to be serious.

TRADE PACT IN EUROPE NOT TO LOWER DUTIES

Cannot Risk Lowering of American Standard, Secretary States

Washington—(AP)—Application to the United States of the proposals contained in the economic manifesto signed by some American and European bankers for a lowering of tariffs in the interests of trade would reduce rather than increase American purchases abroad, in the opinion of Secretary Mellon of the treasury.

Serving formal notice on behalf of the administration that the manifesto would bring about no change in the present tariff policy he approved its application to European states on the ground that it would effect there a condition similar to that existing here—free trade among the states of the union.

"WOULD RETARD RECOVERY"

And reduction in the American tariff rates would act as a stimulus but as a boomerang to Europe's export trade to the United States, he contended, because it would "occasion unemployment and reduce our purchasing power; will diminish the country's consumption of commodities and cause large surpluses of the world's principal products" and would not "help certain foreign nations to recover from losses occasioned by the war, but would retard such recovery."

"The trend of trade during the past few years," he continued, "convincingly confirms the contention that the volume of imports is controlled by the purchasing power of the nation rather than the rate of import duties assessed."

EUROPE SELLS MORE

Europe, he declared, is selling increasingly large quantities of products to the United States, mostly of the non-durable classes of commodities not produced in the United States. During 1916, he added, 65.2 per cent of the total imports to the United States were free of duty, whereas non-durable commodities excluding the imports of both durable and non-durable, for the year 1914 by more than sixty per cent.

Reducing the American tariff rates he argued, would drive a large share of manufacturing away from the United States to countries "where the costs are less."

The United States is the largest customer in the world today," the secretary asserted. "If we were not prosperous and able to buy Europe, also would suffer. It is inconceivable to me that American labor will ever consent to the abolition of protection which would bring the American standard of living down to the level of that in Europe or that the American farmer could survive if the enormous consuming power of the people in this country was curtailed and his market at home destroyed."

MURDERS FIVE AND COMMITS SUICIDE

Prominent Illinois Attorney Driven Insane by Worry, Is Theory

Marion, Ill.—(AP)—Worry over financial reverses, ill health and the loss of his position as United States district attorney four months ago, are ascribed as the reasons for a sudden fit of insanity late Saturday night that drove W. O. Potter, 56, prominent southern Illinois attorney, to kill five of his family and then end his own life.

After his victims had retired Potter crushed the skull of each, one of them a baby three weeks old, with a turner shaker and then ended his own life by hurling himself into a chert at the rear of his home. The bodies were found by a son, Morris Potter, 26, who returned several hours later from a trip to a neighboring town. The victims were the wife, Myrtle 52; two daughters, Eloise, 16, and Mrs. Lucille White, and the latter's two children, Phyllis, 4, and Cynthia, 2 weeks old. Mrs. White was the wife of Dr. Gilbert White of Miami, Fla. Another of the White children, Gilbert, Jr., 6 had been visiting the Potter home but recently had gone to visit a grandmother, at Olney, Ill.

RAILROAD BODY ACTS ON TELEPHONE RATE CLAIMS

Madison—(AP)—The Wisconsin Railroad commission Monday disallowed approximately half of the payments charged to the Wisconsin Telephone company at its Superior and Beloit exchanges by the American Telephone and Telegraph company and also granted only a slight increase in rates at Superior and approximately one-third of the increase asked at Beloit.

ORDER SENATE FUND INQUIRY FOR OREGON

Chairman Reed Requests Two Pacific Coast Senators to Act

Kansas City, Mo.—(AP)—Investigation of the Oregon senate campaign was ordered Monday by Senator James A. Reed, Democrat, Missouri, chairman of the senate campaign funds.

The request for the investigation came from George Putnam, editor and publisher of the Salem (Oregon) Capital Journal. Senator Reed immediately telegraphed Senator McNary, Republican Oregon, and King, Democrat, Utah, to conduct the inquiry as soon as they had finished the one now in progress into the Washington state campaign.

NAMES STEINER IN REQUEST

Mr. Putnam asked specifically for an investigation of the campaign of Frederick Steiner, the Republican senatorial candidate, who is opposed by Bert J. Haney, Democrat, and Senator Stanford, Republican, who was defeated in the primary.

"I have it on good authority," Putnam's telegram read, "that Franklin K. Griffith of the Portland Electric company, paid the Portland Oregonian $35,000 for opposition to Stanford, of which $25,000 was sent from headquarters in Philadelphia and the balance in cash. The Portland Electric company is a subsidiary of the Portland Cement company, which is a subsidiary of the Portland Cement company, which is a subsidiary of the Portland Cement company."

NAMES ROBBERS OF BADGER POSTOFFICE

Waupun Convict Discloses Names of Pals Who Entered Superior Office

Superior—(AP)—Revealing further statements contained in a confession from Charles Bennett, Waupun convict, chief A. E. Buchanan Monday declared the confession said Bobby Henderson, now serving a 25-year term in Leavenworth prison, was the leader of the gang that robbed the Superior postoffice last November of $70,000 in stamps and cash. Henderson two weeks ago was sentenced by federal Judge Sanborn in St. Paul to the term in Leavenworth after he had confessed to the robbery of a postal station in St. Paul in 1925. He was transported secretly from the Dane-co jail where he was awaiting trial for the robbery of the Superior postoffice and sentenced in St. Paul. His trial for the "job" was scheduled to have taken place at the September term of federal court here, now past.

Former Kaiser Invites 50 Friends To Old-Time Hunt

Berlin—(AP)—William Hohenzollern has invited various personages to attend a hunt on his favorite preserve at Romin in the heath and forest country of East Prussia. But he will not be there as in olden days, standing behind a blind as the game is driven past as a target for the hunt.

The newspaper Montag Morgan says the invitations have been signed "in the name of his majesty, the Kaiser." Fifty persons, among them Prince Henry consort of Queen Wilhelmina of Holland, former diplomatic officials and military officers have been bidden to attend next month.

The Rominten estate only recently was restored to Wilhelm by the compromise settlement of the Prussian

DENY EFFORTS FOR LEAGUE IN INDIANA PROBE

Alleged Propaganda to Force U. S. Entry Is Called "Poppycock"

Kansas City, Mo.—(AP)—Chairman Reed of the Senate campaign fund committee declared here Monday that the investigation of Indiana politics "proved conclusively that the chairman of the Republican state committee put out a deliberate falsehood and he was fully discredited."

"He said that the state was flooded with money," Senator Reed added, "but the money turned out to be a lot of cheap pamphlets. That gentleman and his stories were left suspended in the air."

Sensor Reed's statement about the Indiana Republican chairman, Clyde A. Walb, was made after he had denied he had stated at Indianapolis last Friday that the Indiana inquiry was furnishing only "clat." He was quoted by the Indianapolis News as having made such statement.

HOPE TO FINISH SOON

Kansas City—(AP)—More information about the inside workings of the political machinery in Indiana as well as about the dissemination of league of nations propaganda in that state was sought Monday by the senate campaign funds committee. Chairman Reed hoped to make these the last sessions, at least until after the elections on Nov. 2.

Testimony before the senate committee that the League of Nations Non-Partisan association was, trying to affect the senatorial campaigns in Indiana is "poppycock," Joseph Myers, Jr., declared when the inquiry was resumed.

CHARGE PROPAGANDA

Myers represented that association in Indiana during the first six months of this year and Clyde A. Walb, chairman of the Indiana Republican State committee testified last week at Chicago that "the propaganda" put out by the association was designed to defeat Senators Watson and Robinson, Republicans because of their vote against the world court.

"That's poppycock and nonsense," Myers said. "It is the result of the fevered imagination of a political leader who is either illiterate or terrified, perhaps both."

Five witnesses were under subpoena, chief among them Mrs. Vivian Tracy Wheatcraft, vice chairman of the Indiana State Republican committee, who has denied published reports that she said she had organized a "poison squad" among the women of the state to support Senator Watson in the Republican primary campaign.

MRS. WHEATCRAFT IS ILL

Mrs. Wheatcraft has been doing campaign work in Missouri on behalf of Senator Williams and other candidates on the Republican ticket. She has been ill at St. Louis but had been directed by Senator Reed to come to Kansas City if possible.

Through Mrs. Senator Reed will inquire further into the story told by Clyde A. Walb, Indiana Republican state chairman, that he had heard of the raising of $80,000 for "international bankers" for use in Indiana in defeating Senators Watson and Robinson.

LAFOLLETTE MUST STAY IN BED 6 WEEKS LONGER

Madison—(AP)—Orders for United States Senator Robert M. LaFollette, to remain in bed for at least six more weeks were given by the state's physician, Dr. R. T. Cooney. An influenza condition of the left leg, for which the senator has been undergoing treatments for some time has not responded properly to treatment and complete inactivity will be necessary in order to effect a cure, the physician said. The attack is not alarming, Dr. Cooney said.

Man Sought In Murder Of Publisher Is Arrested

Canton—(AP)—One more indictment for first degree murder in the Mellett case is expected to result from the apprehension in Twin Rocks, Pa., Sunday of Patrick Eugene McDermott, one of three already indicted.

For three months while he was sought the country over as the man having full knowledge of the murder of Don R. Mellett, Canton publisher, on July 16, McDermott lived in luxury in Cleveland. Then his desire to see his mother led him homeward and into the hands of the law.

Sunday night he was lodged in Starcke jail the last of trio indicted for the murder to be taken into custody. The other two Ben Rudner of Massillon, and Louis Mazer of Canton, are awaiting trial. Mazer goes on trial Nov. 8, and Rudner, Dec. 6.

BROTHERS LAID TRAP

McDermott was taken into custody Sunday morning at Twin Rock, Pa., by Ora Slater, Cincinnati detective, and P. E. McClintock, Starcke prosecutor. He was captured in a trap laid by his brothers Tom and Bernard who long ago promised Slater and McClintock they would try to locate him so he could tell his story, whatever it might be.

One of three developments is expected. Pat will confess he is guilty of a part in the murder; the indictment against him will be nolleed and he will turn state's evidence; or he will play another "waiting game" refusing to talk and defying the state to show its evidence in open court.

McClintock and Slater, loath to show their hand, admitted Monday they feel the case against Rudner and Mazer much strengthened by McDermott's arrest but said they have obtained no confessions. McClintock intimated more indictments may result.

LETTER STIRS PARTY BOSSES IN BAY STATE

President Declares He Will Vote for Massachusetts Candidate

Is First Public Approval of Any Office-seeker in Election

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—The political waters of the capital rippled Monday in ever widening circles from the impact of the latest element cast into their midst—endorsement by President Coolidge of Senator William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican National committee, who is opposed in the November elections in Massachusetts by former Senator David I. Walsh.

The pronouncement, the president's first utterance in behalf of any Republican candidate for national office in the impending elections, was contained in a letter from the chief executive which was made public by the Massachusetts Republican State committee.

ALSO PRAISES FULLER

It also praised Governor Alan T. Fuller, a candidate for reelection on the Republican ticket, and drew immediate fire from Democratic leaders in form of a prediction by Chairman Oldfield of that party's congressional campaign committee, that the letter would react against both candidates.

He charged Mr. Coolidge with "repudiating" his previous stand and with "interference."

The letter replies to a telegram asking whether the president intended to cast his vote in his home city of Northampton. The chief executive wrote that he and Mr. Coolidge planned to make the trip, but that he had requested to have absentee ballots sent him for use in event that he could not return to Massachusetts to vote in person.

IS BUTLER'S FRIEND

"Of course I want to vote for Senator Butler," the president wrote. "He is my friend. I know how faithful he is. It was to him that I turned to entrust the great and delicate task of conducting my presidential campaign. His management of the campaign will long stand as a model of wisdom, efficiency and honest efforts. It left him the natural choice for senator."

Of Governor Fuller, President Coolidge wrote that "he has served the people well, he has given a fair and honorable administration in harmony with the policies of constructive economy."

FOES ATTACK STAND

In his comment Chairman Oldfield said that "President Coolidge, through his White House spokesman, has said from the beginning of the campaign that he would take no part in the election of any candidate. That letter repudiates his former stand. The people of Massachusetts are capable of electing their state and national officers without any interference from the White House."

During the primary campaigns the president had let it be known that he valued the services and character of some Republicans seeking reelection, including Senator Lenroot, Republican, Wisconsin, whom he praised in his dedicatory address of the John Ericsson monument here in May. Senator Lenroot was defeated for reelection by Governor Blaine, who had the support of the LaFollette forces.

UPPER COURT UPHOLDS LAW ON INSURANCE

States Have Right to Invalidate Insurance Not Properly Placed

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—The right of the states to invalidate insurance on property not placed through authorized resident agents was sustained Monday by the supreme court in five cases from Ohio, Maine and Wisconsin.

The suits all arose out of the placing of fire and theft insurance by the Chrysler Sales corporation with the Plymouth Fire Insurance Co. of South Carolina, upon all automobiles sold on the deferred payment or installment plan.

COMPANY PLACED POLICY

The Chrysler company placed the insurance without regard to the wishes of the purchasers for the protection of the distributors or dealers and the banks or companies which financed the purchase of the machines.

The state courts having sustained the law requiring insurance to be placed on property within their boundaries through authorized resident agents, and having proceeded to revoke the license of the insurance company for having placed insurance at Detroit with the Chrysler company the latter entered the federal courts seeking injunctions and attacking the validity of the state laws.

In his they failed and appealed to the supreme court which Monday upheld the laws as valid and constitutional.

SHAH OF PERSIA UNHURT WHEN AUTO IS BLOWN UP

Teheran, Persia—(AP)—The shah of Persia Monday escaped unhurt when an automobile in which he was riding on a tour of the province of Manazandaran was blown up near Damavand. Several officers were killed and two injured.

The automobile blown up was carrying arms, ammunition and bombs. The cause of the explosion was not apparent. The shah continued on his tour.

COTTON PRICES PLUNGE TO LOW LEVEL SINCE 1921

New York—(AP)—Cotton prices broke approximately $1.50 a bale to the lowest levels since 1921 Monday as the New York market was thrown into confusion by the government's forecast of the largest crop on record, 17,454,000 bales.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS EVERY DAY

Every day in the Post-Crescent's Classified section opportunities are presented. The main idea advertised creates opportunity. The individual who reads, seizes opportunity.

Mr. Edw. F. Mumm, the popular orchestra director, believes that the old "stuff" about opportunity knocking but once passed out when the modern newspaper with its modern, efficient classified service stepped in.

Mr. Mumm's reason for this belief was demonstrated last week when he sold his residence in the Third Ward, receiving 16 inquiries altogether. To sell a home costing several thousand dollars thru a Post-Crescent classified ad costing but very little amply illustrates the power of these small ads.

If you have something to sell—use a well worded, full description, classified advertisement and results will be apparent.

WRIGHT MUST FACE FEDERAL CHARGES

United States Will Press Case Against Architect, Attorney Says

Minneapolis—(AP)—The government will press the Mann act charges against Frank Lloyd Wright and his companion, Mme. Olga Milanoff to the limit, LaFayette French, United States district attorney said Monday.

"The government has no choice in the matter," he said. "Promises with drawal of the adultery charges against the couple does not affect our case. At Saturday's preliminary hearing before the United States commissioner we will put our case and then the commissioner will either dismiss the case or hold the defendants over to the federal grand jury."

Mr. French said the federal charges against the couple after their arrest near here last Wednesday night.

Charles W. Seaman, United States immigration inspector here, who has been investigating the status of Mme. Milanoff, said he had not forwarded his report to Washington and would not do so until his investigation warranted action by his Washington superiors.

100 LIVES LOST AT SEA AS TWO SHIPS ARE SUNK

Hamilton, Bermuda—(AP)—Approximately 100 lives were lost at sea off Bermuda on Friday morning when the hurricane which swept Cuba struck this region. British naval sloop Valerian and the British freight steamer Eastway both went to the bottom in the tempest.

G. O. P. LEADERS URGE RETURN TO PARTY POLITICS

Agree That Wisconsin Primary Law Needs Some Modification

Unmercifully flaying the "stay at home voter" and advocating a return to strict party line politics, speakers, led by attorney A. H. Krugmeier, outlined a whirlwind stump campaign for the Republican candidates for national, state and county offices at an organization banquet and "get-together" meeting of the Outagamie County Republican Campaign Committee held at Hotel Appleton on Saturday evening.

Will take the stump from now until the general election to do whatever I can to inculcate party spirit and party principles into the minds of the voters of this county," Mr. Krugmeier declared in the opening stanzas of an extemporaneous speech in which he scored heavily the tendency from the high tariff and "no world affairs" entanglements platforms of Republicanism.

VOTE STRAIGHT TICKET

"Building up party love and adherence is the only way to get the voter to the polls," Mr. Krugmeier declared in the statutes of the United States. I will put a cross at the top of the ticket and vote it straight from there to coroner. I have no use for the office seeker who only sees in politics an income, his bread and butter, and men who, when defeated at the primary fail to take their defeat in good part and line up with the party."

Whether the dry and wet question is an issue received considerable attention at the meeting and the general consensus of opinion apparently favored the belief that it is an issue and that the referendum on the subject will definitely put before state and national officials a working premise on which to cast their future votes.

PRAISE FOR COOLIDGE

"With the county on the right side of the ledger, the nation paying its debts accumulated by Democratic rule; the farmer coming into a period of prosperity—I see no reason why my man should be ashamed of the Republican party and no reason why four more years of Coolidge administration should not be sought," Mr. Krugmeier declared.

Owing to inclement weather only a small number of the guests and committeemen were able to attend the gathering which soon resolved itself into an informal political conference with everyone present called upon by Joseph Witmer, acting chairman of the evening, to express his views as to how the campaign should be handled in the county.

It was agreed that a closer organization should be built up and maintained and the opening gun of the biennial political battle will be fired at town of Cicero on Monday night. Mr. Krugmeier and others will speak. Tuesday night, Mr. Witmer said, a meeting will be held at Twelve Corners.

From then on until the night before election day rallies will be held each evening, perhaps as many as three a night, until every section of the county has been covered, Mr. Witmer declared.

Dr. Herbert E. Ellsworth, Outagamie county coroner for 16 years, gave an interesting resume of political growth in the county as he has observed it since 1882.

Owing to the small attendance and resultant informality of the convocation the opinions expressed by those present were much more in the nature of personal opinion and statement of fact as interpreted by each individual

APPOINT COMMITTEES FOR Y'S MENS CLUB

The program for the Y's Mens club for the next six months will be completed at a meeting of the club at 610 Monday evening at the Y. M. C. A. Committees for the year will be appointed.

R. M. Eickmeyer will report on new members and plans for getting new members into the club will be discussed. Plans for a joint Halloween party and Ladies Night also will be made.

TRAPPERS BUYING SEASON LICENSES

With the opening of the trapping season on mink and muskrat set for Oct. 25, County Clerk John E. Hantschel reported Saturday that 75 licenses for trapping permits have been issued for Outagamie county.

The largest trap line brought to light so far will probably be a string of 100 as that many trap tags were purchased with one application, it was stated.

Probably by the end of the application rush approximately 200 to 300 licenses will have been issued, it is estimated.

Application for trappers permits are almost invariably filed by professionals, acquainted with trapping as a business or trade and very few are received from sportsmen in the ordinary sense of the word, the county clerk said.

rather than a formal expression of political intention other than to bring forth that the majority will crusade for a strict adherence to the straight ticket; it was agreed that the spirit of the meeting was at least decidedly moist if not avowedly wet.

The return to party caucus or some form of conference approbation of proposed candidates was strongly advocated in the interests of distributing county political offices more evenly throughout the county.

In arguing the justice of such measures, Anton Jansen, Little Chute, gave a brief resume of the history of Little Chute in which he pointed out that in 92 years of settlement the town has never succeeded in having a county office credited to its honor roll.

Were some form of county conference agreed upon, Mr. Jansen said, it would lead inevitably to the selection of men from the various sections of the county to represent the voters at large rather than concentrate the political patronage into the more heavily settled districts where more votes are available.

Oscar J. Schmlege, candidate for assembly from the First District, gave a short talk in which he declared that had he been defeated at the Primary he would have withdrawn from the race. Mr. Schmlege also endorsed the general sentiment of the gathering regarding a return to party line politics as representing the greatest good for the greatest number and paving the only path by which the voter may travel away from minority rule in state, national and world affairs.

Advising principally that county committeemen receive instructions on what their duties are during the campaign, Albert G. Koch, register of deeds, gave a short talk which was followed by one by Otto H. Zuehlke, candidate for sheriff.

PERFECT TEETH IN 1,000 YOUNGSTERS

More Than 2,500 Pupils Examined by Appleton Dentists

More than 1,000 of the 2,552 school children examined in ten Appleton schools by dentists last week had perfect teeth, according to the reports received from the schools. Three of the schools had not returned reports of the survey Monday morning which would make a difference in the final statistics.

Notices were sent to 1,533 parents telling them that the children's teeth were defective and asking them to have the family dentist take care of them. If the parents can not afford to pay for the dental attention, they were asked to sign and return notices to the school and the dental clinic sponsored by the Kiwanis club will do the work free of charge.

The survey was made of all children in the first six grades who attended school on the Tuesday scheduled for the examinations. The dental clinic will be opened as soon as the final arrangements are made by Dr. W. H. Meeker, who is in charge of the work.

AUTOISTS WARNED TO RESPECT STREET MARKS

The yellow lines painted on the street are put there to designate parking areas and not merely as an indication of the city's artistic temperament. It was declared by police Monday in warning that arrests may follow where cars are carelessly parked in such a manner as to be outside the markings. The parking situation, largely through cooperation of business men, is not so acute as it was a month ago, it was stated.

WARN TEACHERS AND PARENTS OF CONTAGION

Contagious and infectious diseases have been found among the school children in Appleton this year, and parents have been urged to watch for their symptoms when children are not feeling well. Miss Mary Orblison, school nurse, announced. If there is a suspicion that the child is in the preliminary stages of any of the usual so-called children's diseases, the family physician should be called, it was said, in order to prevent an epidemic in the schools.

Teachers also have been asked to watch the children and report to the school nurse if the children show signs of illness.

VISITOR'S CAR IS TAKEN BY THIEVES

Police Search for Oshkosh Man's Car Stolen from Near Y. M. C. A.

Saturday and Sunday, according to police reports, were carnival days in automobile theft circles and of several cars reported as stolen to police one was taken in front of the Y. M. C. A. here early Saturday night.

In his story to police John Linweber, 321 Sawyer-st., Oshkosh, said he parked a 1926 Essex coach on Oneda-st Saturday evening at 7:15; two hours later, he said, he went to find his machine for the return journey and it was gone. At noon Monday police had found no trace of the car. It carried license number C-94-527.

During the football game at Ripon on Saturday one machine was stolen, it was reported. This was a Ford sedan, license number B-135-451. At Manitowish Lake Saturday night a Ford coupe, license number B-121-756 was reported missing.

For Children Under 17 Years Only

CARL J. BECHER

Seven Worthwhile Prizes

If you are under 17 years of age and attending school in Outagamie county you are eligible to this unusual contest. If you are studying political economy, civics or good government, and you are, then Mr. Becher wants you to write an essay for him for which you may receive one of the gold or silver prizes. If you ask your parents or friends for advice Mr. Becher will not object, provided you write the essay yourself, in your own words.

FOR CLERK OF COURTS

YOUR Part in Contest

Gather your information carefully concerning Mr. Becher. Find out where he was born; how long he has lived in Appleton and Outagamie county, what profession he is now in and what work he has done in the past—then in 350 words or less, written on one side of the paper only, tell, in your own words just why you think Mr. Becher should be elected to the office of clerk of circuit and municipal courts. Tell why Mr. Becher should be promoted to public office.

INDEPENDENT CANDIDATE

AWARDING of Gold Prizes

The best essay will win $15 in gold; the second best in $10 in gold; third, a $5 gold piece and the next best will receive $4, $3, $2 and $1 prizes in silver "cart-wheels"—all absolutely free for a little effort on your part. Winners will be announced the day after election. All essays must be mailed before midnight Nov. 1. Three judges will be announced in an advertisement in the papers Friday night. They will be Outagamie county residents, widely known.

AT GENERAL ELECTION

JUDGING the Winners

Fifty per cent will be allowed for the clearness and logic of your essay. Twenty-five per cent for evidence of thorough investigation of your topic and 25 per cent for neatness and general ability. Any school child anywhere in the county is eligible. This contest is not confined to the cities and villages but also is open to rural school pupils. Start now to write your essay!

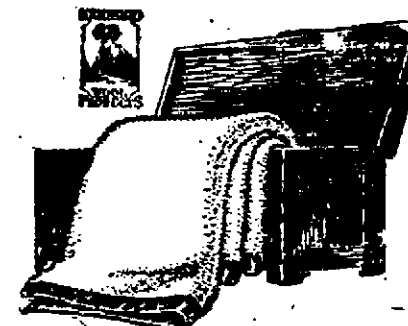

Mail your finished essay to Mr. Carl J. Becher, contest department, P. O. Box 351, Appleton, Wis. Tell your friends to join you in this interesting contest. Make up your mind to win a prize. In sending in your essay give your name, address, age and what school you attend for this is a strict rule. Remember, your playmate may win a prize if you don't try.

FOUR CARS PILE UP AS THEY SKID ON PAVEMENT

Slippery pavements were the cause of four cars piling up on East College-ave between Union-st and Lawrence-st, shortly after the football game Saturday afternoon. The cars were traveling east on the avenue and the leading car had stopped to permit traffic on Lawrence-st to pass by. This car belonged to J. J. Martens of Kaukauna, directly in back of him was another sedan bearing license No. D-103-720. The driver of this car tried to stop but couldn't because of the condition of the pavement and he hit the rear end of Martens' car. A Dodge touring with license No. D-35-010 tried to avert hitting the second car in the pile-up and slid sideways into it. A Ford coupe bearing license No. B 92-075 was next in line. This car was traveling a bit faster than the rest and in attempting to stop the driver swung his car completely around, wedging in between the other cars. It took several men to pull the two cars apart. The last two suffered the most damage. No one was injured.

IMPROVEMENT OF PARK DELAYED BY WEATHER

Improvement of Pierce park is being delayed because of inclement weather. The east entrance has been completed except for placing the ornamental pieces on the top of the wall. The entrance is constructed of stone with a large automobile driveway and two pedestrian gates. Entrances at the west end of the park have not been started.

Workmen are laying drain tile and water pipe through the park. Grading operations had to be abandoned for some time because of the wet condition of the ground. The work is being done by the Chicago Landscape company. It is hoped that all the rough work about the park will be finished this fall and finishing touches will be made in the spring. The drives through the park are to be finished with gravel.

23-Year-Old Meat Trust Fight Still Continues

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Washington—For 23 years the justice department has been fighting to compel the meat packing industry to comply with its interpretation of the federal anti-trust laws.

The fight has been unimpeded, round by round, by a succession of lower courts throughout the land.

Now the federal supreme bench is about to be asked to take over the job of refereeing the strife.

The justice department has landed several telling wallops in the course of the mill, but seemingly it lacks the punch to make the packers stay down for the count.

The bell rang for the first round in 1903, when suit was brought for an injunction restraining Swift and Company and others from continuing various trade practices which the government contended violated the Sherman act.

The packers entered a demurrer. The government, boring in, got the demurrer set aside.

The packers, falling into a chinch, consented to a decree without a trial, forbidding most of the practices complained of.

Round 2—in 1905. The government led with an indictment charging Armour and Company and other leading packers with violating the Sherman act.

The packers, covering up, argued that they'd admitted the very things they were accused of doing, before the United States corporations commissioner. Having been witnesses against themselves, they insisted they were immune from prosecution.

The court agreed, and they escaped trial. The packers' round.

Round 3—in 1910. The government

rushed the packers with another Sherman act indictment.

For awhile the packers were outpointed, losing all the preliminary decisions, but just at the bell they landed a rousing sock in the form of a jury acquittal, after a three months' trial.

All in all, very much the packers' round.

Round 4—in 1917. The government

opened with a federal trade commission inquiry into the packing industry.

It scored heavily with a commission report that the packers were employing business practices which violated the Sherman and Clayton Anti-Trust acts.

Crowding the industry against the ropes, the government then started grand jury proceedings in Chicago and New York.

The packers, punch drunk, consented again without trial, to a decree in the District of Columbia supreme court restraining them, as the attorney general expressed it, "from perfecting a monopoly of the nation's meat and other food supplies." By all odds the government's round.

Round 5—began in 1924 and still going on. The packers took the aggressive with a move to have the last decree against them set aside.

The government shook 'em with a body blow—their motion was denied. The packers countered by taking the case up to the District of Columbia court of appeals.

The government now presses the fighting with the contention that the court of appeals lacks jurisdiction—that now's the time for the United States supreme court to step into the ring and render a decision, once and for all.

NAVY SPEAKERS TO BROADCAST GLORY OF NATION ON SEA

Nation-wide Program Planned for Navy Day, Set for Oct. 27

Washington—(AP)—All the romance and mystery of the open seas will be quickened with new meaning for Americans when the nation pays its annual tribute to its sailor folk on Oct. 27, in observing Navy day.

Under leadership of the Navy league, a nation-wide program has been prepared designed to center attention not upon memories of old battles that have made glorious the traditions of the navy, but upon the busy, bustling merchant craft that shuttle endlessly back and forth over the sea lanes, intent upon missions of peace and good will. For wherever their thumping screws churn the waters of the trade ports of the world, they carry the flag and its renewed pledge to mankind that America is seeking its destiny through peace and hard work and the friendly rivalries of commerce.

That is the purpose which will be proclaimed again on Navy day by men who have lived lives on the sea in peace and in war. At the request of the Navy league, senior officers of the navy, grown gray in service to the flag, will voice it to countless radio listeners: men who shape the laws in Washington will reiterate it, and from Washington itself, cabinet officers will say it again.

All along the tide-water frontiers of America, the blue gray fighting ships will be stationed to give a few out of the many millions of Americans an opportunity to look them over for themselves. But for the great bulk of the nation, the true meaning of the navy and its intimate relation to the speeding liners and the dingy cargo carriers of commerce must be told over the air, by word of mouth. The vast network of the radio broadcast system affords that opportunity.

The navy's share in observance of the day necessarily will be largely local as its activities are scattered all along the coast lines. Each district commander has been directed to work out for himself in cooperation with state and municipal authorities the method of bringing before the American people the vital relationship of the American flag ships of commerce to the continued prosperity of American agriculture and industry and the floating bulwark of security the grim fighting craft give to the ocean highways and byways of trade.

What Tito Schipa, the World's Greatest Tenor says about the Mason & Hamlin AMPICO.

"The Mason & Hamlin Ampico is more wonderful than I had ever imagined any instrument could be. The Ampico re-enacts the pianist's characteristics with such absolute fidelity that anyone familiar with an artist's style can easily recognize his playing. When such perfect reenactment is combined with the glorious tone of the Mason & Hamlin, the result is truly superb. For years I have used the Mason & Hamlin in my work. Now, I look forward to practising and singing to the perfect accompaniment of the Mason & Hamlin Ampico."

The Mason & Hamlin and Mason & Hamlin AMPICO are for sale in this territory only by our Neenah store and are now being displayed in our New AMPICO HALL.

MISSED GOAL KICK LOSES FOOTBALL GAME FOR NEENAH

St. Peter School Squad
Throws Surprise into Jorgenson Athletes

Neenah—St. Peter school football team of Oshkosh defeated Neenah high school team Saturday afternoon at Columbus park. Neenah, 7 to 6. Oshkosh scored within three minutes after the start of the game after a series of passes. Lowe, left half back, scored the touchdown and also kicked goal for the extra point. Neenah scored in the second quarter when Smith, quarterback carried the ball over from a distance of 3 feet line where it had been placed by Hase in a 40 yard run. He missed the kick.

Neenah started the game with second string men but were soon surprised the visitors and the regular Neenah lineup took the field. Oshkosh, time and time again received passes and time and time again. The game was played in mud a foot deep in some places. Oshkosh was near a second touchdown when the whistle closed the game. Lowe had taken the ball to within 10 yards of the goal line.

Neenah will play at New London next Saturday.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM LOSES TO OCONTO

Gridders Play on Pasture—
Menasha Had Several Chances to Score

Menasha—Menasha high school football team was defeated 12 to 0 Saturday by Oconto high school team at Oconto. The loss of the game was due in part of the uneven 90 yard field, a pasture, which was smaller than that to which the visitors were accustomed and to the fact that the home team outweighed the visitors on an average of 10 pounds.

Oconto succeeded in blocking two Menasha punts which paved the way for their two touchdowns. Menasha came near scoring twice. At one time they within six inches of their opponent's goal. Menasha outplayed Oconto in many ways and Klutz and Klepfel featured with long gains. A large delegation of Menasha high school students and teachers accompanied their team.

WON'T HAVE TO WAIT YEAR TO SHIP DEER, STATE LAWYER RULES

Failure to Amend Deer Shipping Law Merely an Oversight, Opinion Holds

Madison—(P)—Deer may be transported during the period corresponding to the open season in Wisconsin Assistant Attorney General Franklin E. Bump, said in an opinion made public here today.

The 1925 legislature changed the open season from November to December and failed to change the statutory period for transportation of deer to correspond with the new season dates.

Numerous inquiries from hunters have come into the office of the conservation commission. Commissioner Elmer S. Hall asked for an opinion from the Attorney General's office as to the legality of transporting deer during the period of the open season.

"By the statutes of 1923," Assistant Attorney General Bump said, the annual open season deer was fixed as

SEWAGE MEETING MAY BE CALLED ON THURSDAY, OCT. 28

Mayor Will Schedule Date if
State Sanitary Engineer
Can Appear

If C. M. Baker, state sanitary engineer, can come to Appleton next Thursday afternoon, Oct. 28, another meeting of Fox river valley municipalities in this district interested in the proposed sewage disposal plant for joint use of all the cities will be called that day, Mayor Albert C. Rule, committee chairman, announced Friday morning.

Mayor Rule communicated with Mr. Baker by telephone Friday morning and the latter indicated he probably would be able to attend the meeting here next Thursday. He will inform Mayor Rule definitely within a few days, and notices will be issued early next week if the meeting is to be scheduled.

Should he attend, Mr. Baker will explain the advantages and disadvantages of the proposed system, telling why he would or would not recommend it. No further action has been taken by the interested cities since the last meeting until the opinion of the state engineer is known.

Joint construction of a sewage disposal plant for use of all municipalities between Neenah and Kaukauna was proposed several months ago by the village board of health to approve the village's plans for a sewage system because it was intended to dispose of sewage in the river. A disposal plant would have to be constructed before the plans could be approved, the state board of health indicated.

The board further informed the village that the time probably was not far distant when all cities along the river would be forced to dispose of their sewage in the stream. At such a time, all the municipalities would be faced by the necessity of constructing a disposal plant.

As it is most likely that this period will soon have to be faced, the village board, through its engineer, prepared plans recommending the joint construction of a plant, probably south of Kaukauna, by Neenah and Kaukauna, and all cities between them.

It is upon the feasibility of this plan that Mr. Baker will talk.

OFFER AUTOS FOR ROAD INSPECTION

Supervisors Will Not Want
for Transportation on Highway Trip

Appearance is that the transportation problem relating to the proposed trip of inspection of county roads to be made by the board of supervisors in a group will be solved without difficulty as already several Appleton men have offered the use of their cars, with drivers, if the committee in charge needs them, it was reported Monday.

Many of the supervisors, Highway Commissioner A. C. Brusewitz reports, have their own machines and would be willing to use them but indications are that several city and county officials would like to join the trip and it is believed several extra cars can be used.

The proposal is the entire country board and others interested in making the tour will leave the courthouse for two consecutive mornings of the regular fall board session for an extended inspection auto trip over county highways.

Persons who wish to offer their machines for county use are advised to inform the highway office at the courthouse. It was stated.

Citizen Furnishes Joliet With Municipal Golf Links

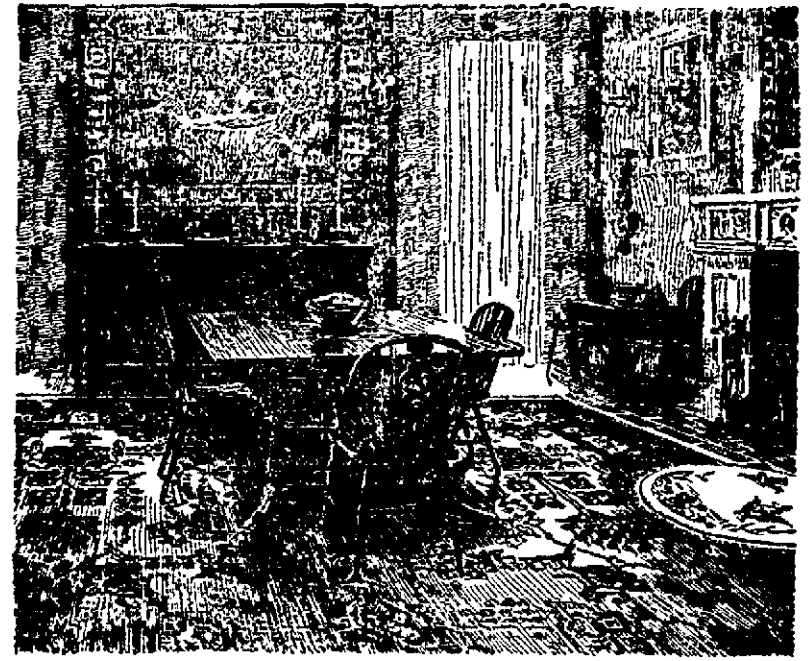

How Joliet, Ill., through the generosity of one of its citizens, George Woodruff, was able to build one of the finest municipal golf links in the country, is told in the October number of the Illinois Journal of Commerce. Although construction of the course was not started until last summer, it was completed by fall and was dedicated on Labor Day, Sept. 6.

The site of the course was purchased by Mr. Woodruff and presented to the city. Besides this, he furnished more than $30,000 to lay out the course and bridge paths which wind in and out among beautiful trees and shrubbery. A clubhouse of Old English architecture also was built.

A fee of 50 cents is charged each individual using the links. By arrangement with the Joliet city park board, 75 per cent of the fees are returned to Mr. Woodruff to reimburse him for the expense of installing the courts. Twenty-five per cent goes to maintenance of the grounds.

This is only one of many plans worked out in various cities throughout the country, according to officials of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce, a committee of which is now working to make possible construction of a municipal course here.

In many cities the money necessary to start the project is furnished by

EASTERN OFFICE OF PAPER MILL ENLARGED

The eastern office of the Fox River Paper Co. of Appleton, which was opened at 261 Broadway, New York, in 1921, will be enlarged this month, according to officials of the firm. Increasing business caused by the establishment of the eastern office is said to be the cause for enlarging the office.

The new office will be situated on the eleventh floor and will cover an area of 1,000 square feet of floor space, with windows fronting on Broadway and Warren street and overlooking City Hall park. It will contain the latest office appliances, including cabinets filled with a complete stock of all of the Fox River papers for convenience and use of the trade.

An even different plan is to be attempted here. By solicitation the golf committee hopes to secure enough money to finance at least three-fourths of the entire cost. The remainder it is expected will be raised by the park board.

Plans for the campaign were completed more than a week ago, when it was reported that approximately $1,500 already had been raised. The committee has been working since that time, and although no report has been made, it is believed that this sum has been increased materially.

If enough money is secured soon, work of constructing the course in South park, Fourth ward, will be started this fall. It is hoped that four or five holes may be completed before winter, thus enabling final completion of the course early next summer.

IT'S TOUGH ON MR. CHASE
The Hon. John Chase of Oconto, spokesman for the gang at Madison, is all set up again. He has projected a volley of abuse against Mr. Rosa, because Mr. Rosa, he says, is a traitor to the "cause." Those who do not mind the rein or gallop to the whip must be traitors to the "cause." But what is the "cause" and what does Mr. Chase know about it? Our information, which is carefully selected, is that just a very few years ago Mr. Chase made up his mind to enter state politics and bring a few honors home to himself. When it comes to entering politics Mr. Chase is nobody's fool by any means. It was the wise thing at the date of Mr. Chase's entrance to get on the Blaine speedster which was then hitting on all six in perfect and noiseless fashion. Up to that moment Mr. Chase had never been identified with anything resembling Blainism but quite the opposite; still, "votes is votes" like "pigs is pigs."

No one could blame Mr. Chase for feeling bitter in having selected the Blaine machine upon which to ride, to now find himself on a rumbling truck with three tires punctured, and so soon too after his undertaking the affairs of state. In his attack upon Judge Rosa, Mr. Chase in one breath intimates that the Blaine administration is entitled to the credit for making crooked corporations pay their taxes, and in the next he says that Mr. Rosa has the support of such corporations. That is twisting the story all out of shape. Mr. Rosa has served for some years as chairman of the Tax Commission of Wisconsin, whose business it has been to make crooked corporations pay their taxes; so that if anyone is entitled to the credit for the collection from such corporations of their just share of taxes it would seem to be Mr. Rosa. And it would be quite unusual for such corporations to support the man who has had his hand at their throat. But Mr. Chase has learned his lesson well. As soon as he joined up with the Madison gang he was taught the use of the invariable vote-getting words, such as "big business," "Wall Street," "crooked corporations," and such like, and he generally uses all three in every sentence. There are crooked corporations, and there are crooked laborers and crooked farmers and crooked lawyers too, but the crooks are a very small percentage of the population. On Mr. Chase's behalf it should be remarked that this is the time of year most people are putting on their heavies.

ON THE PATHWAY TO HEALTH
Tremendous stride have been made since 1907, when an active campaign was started against tuberculosis in this country. The death rate from the dreaded "white plague" has been cut 55 per cent, and that means an annual saving in the year of 1920 of 100,000 lives.

From an economic viewpoint the savings have been enormous. The loss from tuberculosis, in sickness and death, in 1907 was estimated at $550,000,000. The loss last year would have been a billion dollars if the 1907 rate applied during 1925. It is a triumph to medicine. It is more than that; it is a triumph to neighborly influence and example. In the old town hall, the friendly meeting place, wherever friends gathered, the campaign has been carried on. If we are to escape the fates of Chinese, Mayans, Aztecs and Incas we must live in good habits and customs, and the circle in which we move is no more elevated than any of its members. Disease is an incident that proves the power of many clean and friendly hands.

THE SPIRIT OF CONQUEST
We are not worldly minded. We are not without ideals. We are not crassly materialistic to the exclusion of every finer thing of life. We simply have found our work cut for us and have done it well. That is the view expressed by David Kinley, president of the University of Illinois. The chief task of the first century of America's existence was the subjugation of a wild continent, and, as Kinley says, America has done it. Physical nature had to be conquered before it would give up its economic resources. You can't build a bridge across the Hudson River by painting a picture of one, writing a poem about it, or a song or a book. Certain among the artists have found in American commerce and work subjects for the shafts of ridicule. It often has been charged that America cares more for a concrete culvert over a creek than for the brilliant work of some of our moderns. The fact that America has had to earn its living before turning to the development of culture may account for the fact that some of the criticizing artists go unperceived.

FOR MONEY'S SAKE
Classicists of the old educational school who have wept to see Virgil, Caesar, Cicero and Ovid ejected from school curriculums will welcome some facts about languages recently given publicity. Two and one-quarter billions of dollars worth of business is done between America and foreign nations yearly, says this report. This vast business is done largely in foreign tongues. More than 65 per cent of the words used in trade with Spain, France, Italy and Germany are words based on the Latin, and easily intelligible to the Latin student. It is significant of this age that any attempt to turn youth back to the classics must be based on commercial interests. "Learn Latin and Greek—Make More Money!" is the only slogan which today's youth can understand. Yesterday's youth may have responded to a plea which said, "Drink deeply of the Pierian spring, and all of earth's graces and beauties shall be opened unto you!"—but no longer. Do not blame youth! Blame a changing social scheme. Youth of yesterday, tilling its own fields, reaping its own grain, giving itself by brawn all the necessities of life, did not have to grope for nickels with such acumen.

SCHOOL KIDS AND AUTOS
The "school kid and flivver" question is agitating the craniums of school officials no little these days. School board after school board is ruling that children of public school age shall not drive cars to and from school. Some boards are less stringent, and rule only that the cars may not be taken out at recess or on the noon hour. "School kid driving" presents the problem of boys and girls under legal age endangering their own lives and the lives of others, of congested parking space and traffic about school buildings, and too free-and-easy conduct before and after school hours. Parents complain they never know where their children are. A few boards pay no attention, calmly saying that "as long as we live in a motor age we cannot expect our children to go back to a horse and buggy age." It is this very wholesale belief of parents that, if necessary, they themselves can live with "horse and buggy day" necessities, but that their children must have "motor age" luxuries, which keeps hundreds of parents in the rut, does no good to their children, and makes wholesale trouble for our educators.

Just Folks

CHOICE
I would not say that every rose is fair,
For in my garden I have found this true:
I sometimes pass the one of brazen hue
To pluck the frailer bud I know is there;
I've looked on blossoms which I would not wear,
Roses, I think have habits, and they do
As men and women. In the throng a few
Possess some charm which makes us truly care.
So men in multitudes pass down the way,
All human, but each different in design,
And some I scorn for what they do or say,
And some I love and seek to make them mine.
On some strange fancy such a choice depends—
The mass move on, a few are kept as friends.

NEVER MIND THAT URIC ACID
In the last talk about uric acid I said that the amount of uric acid in the blood of a healthy person is about three milligrams to each hundred cubic centimeters, or roughly a quarter of a grain to the pint. And I hope victims of the uric acid obsession will remember that I said uric acid is not a poison—for we can inject much more of it than has ever been found in a well person's blood or a sick person's blood without causing any particular discomfort. I hope such deluded souls will bear in mind another physiological fact I mentioned, namely, that uric acid has no bearing upon "acidosis" or "acidity of the blood" or "too much acid in the system." Rectitude of these physiological and unquestionable facts is necessary not only to impress them upon a misinformed laity but to rub the "sore hides of the nostrum monger, the old fashioned quack and the new fangled fad healer who ply a brisk trade with folk obsessed with uric acid. Taking three milligrams in 100 cc. of blood as the normal quantity of uric acid, here are some figures revealed by scientific chemical tests in various cases:
3.2 mg. to 100 cc. blood in a case of duodenal ulcer.
6.0 mg. to 100 cc. blood in a case of diabetes.
2.9 mg. to 100 cc. blood in a case of chronic nephritis.
9.7 mg. to 100 cc. blood in a case of cancer.
8.3 mg. to 100 cc. blood in a case of chronic nephritis.
5.5 mg. to 100 cc. blood in a case of cancer.
7.2 mg. to 100 cc. blood in a case of prostatic obstruction.
11.4 mg. to 100 cc. blood in a case of acute nephritis.
9.0 mg. to 100 cc. blood in a case of pneumonia.
8.4 mg. to 100 cc. blood in a case of gout.
Interesting to note the excess of uric acid in various conditions, but it doesn't help us much in getting at the cause of the trouble or in the treatment. If I should learn, from a chemical examination, that there is an excess of uric acid in my blood, and if I suffered twinges of pain or typical attacks of "gout," I should not attempt to eschew purins or the foods from which uric acid may be derived, because I doubt whether any benefit is to be obtained in that way. And as for excluding uric acid material from my diet on the mere fancy that my trouble were due to uric acid (that is, a surmise not supported by chemical test of the blood), why, I hope I shall never become so tractable as that. It happens that the foods which contain considerable purin (nitrogenous material from which uric acid may be derived), such as liver, sweetbreads, most meats, meat soups, peas, beans, fish, asparagus, onions, mushrooms, tea, coffee, chocolate, are desirable in an ordinary diet, for one reason and another and besides they are pretty good to eat. Of course, a precise or squeamish sort of person might worry along safely if not very happily on a diet consisting mainly of milk, eggs, cottage cheese, bread, fresh vegetables, fresh fruits, butter, sugar and sweets generally. Yes, one might live very well on such a diet, but as I say I'd prefer liver and bacon, French fry, and a couple cups of coffee, for my health. From a survey of the recent views of medical authorities on the uric acid question I conclude that if there is really an excess of uric acid in the blood or a deposit or deposits of sodium monurate in the tissues, such abnormality is rather a secondary feature of the disease in question, and indicates, not that one is consuming too much uric acid forming food, but rather that one's metabolism or oxidation process is too slow.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
High Blood Pressure
Will high blood pressure cause insanity? I am bothered with boils in my nose every little while. (Mrs. R. J. E.)
Answer:—The h. b. p. will never cause insanity but boils in the nose must be enough to drive one wild. It is so difficult to poultice them there. Boils anywhere are no laughing matter, unless they are on the other fellow. Send a stamped envelope bearing your address for instructions for dealing with boils. The high blood pressure should not worry you at all; let your physician try to determine what, if anything, ails you. (Copyright John F. Dille company.)

creative artists to this effect to remove it beyond reasonable doubt. Why does the brief sight of an old woman in a aris restaurant create in Arnold Bennett "The Old Wives Tale"? Why does the passing glimpse of a girl on a farm wagon create in David Graham Phillips "The Rise and Fall of Susan Lennox"? Neither Bennett nor Phillips would have been able to give a satisfactory answer. The themes remained with them and in them for months and years and finally developed into articulate works of art. And perhaps every creative writer has had the same experience. At last when the actual writing stage comes the conscious skill is brought to bear on the job—the ability to spell for instance and to write grammatically and to organize literary material and to manage dialog, etc.—but by that time the work of art has in the real sense already been born. It is generally assumed that the creative writer governs his material, that for instance he could write one book or two books a year if he cared to give the time to it. Many writers do just that but their books are not by any means always works of art. The real artist knows that his material usually governs him and takes possession of him and that a work of art must be born in him before he can give it to the world. Conrad was asked for a story. "Just as if I can shake out of my sleeve," he answered, "No story has been born in him just then and being a true artist he could not give the editor what he did not have, no matter what price was offered. EVERY MAN HAS COUNTRY Editor Post-Crescent—The Consolidated Press Association incorrectly refers to the late Eugene V. Debs, five times Socialist candidate for president, as a man without a country and that he had lost his citizenship when sentenced to prison. Mr. Debs was born in Indiana and remained a citizen of the United States up to his death. It is true that he had lost his political rights, such as the right to vote and the right to hold public office, but he at all times owed the United States allegiance. Imprisonment could not deprive him of his birth-right, citizenship or allegiance. He was not an alien, nor a man without a country, but an American citizen from his birth to his death. The mere fact that he had lost political rights, did not put him in the status of a man without a country. In fact, there is no such person as a man without a country, in the United States. Citizens owe allegiance to the United States; others persons owe it elsewhere, to some ruler or country. The courts have held that the right to vote is not necessarily possessed by all citizens. Mr. Debs paid the penalty for his wrong-doing when we were at war, but he was a citizen of the United States regardless of that. Geo. N. Danielson U. S. Naturalization Examiner.

Q. Is the franking privilege given to anyone for personal use? T. C. L.
A. The Post Office Department says that the franking privilege at the present time has only been given to three individuals for personal mail. The law is as follows: "All mail matter sent by the post by Frances F. Cleveland (Preston), widow of the late Grover Cleveland, under her written autograph signature, and by Mary Lord Harrison, widow of the late Benjamin Harrison, under her written autograph signature, and by Edith Carow Roosevelt, widow of the late Theodore Roosevelt, under her written autograph signature, will be conveyed free of postage during the natural life of each, respectively."
Q. How were the original furnishings of the White House obtained? I. S.
A. In Jefferson's time the White was furnished with articles brought from Philadelphia and which had been used by General Washington. During Madison's administration the mansion is said to have been refurbished "splendidly."
Q. After lobster has been boiled, how may it be served? R. I.
A. Lobster may be fried, scalloped, devilled, curried, creamed, buttered, broiled, or used as a cocktail.
Q. How many Pullman cars were needed for taking people to the Eucharistic Congress in Chicago? P. B.
A. From June 17 to June 24, nearly 1200 Pullmans were used for this gathering.
Q. Please name the seven virtues and the seven vices. M. K.
A. According to the latest dictionaries and sources of information the seven deadly sins are listed as: pride, covetousness, lust, anger, gluttony, envy, sloth. The seven chief virtues are: faith hope, charity, prudence, temperance, chastity, and fortitude.
Q. How soon will it be possible for me to procure some of the Vermont Bennington commemorative half dollar coins? D. N. D.
A. The Director of the Mint says that the Vermont Bennington commemorative half dollar coins will not be ready until next year.

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE
JACK FROST SIGNS HIS NAME
BY ARTHUR N. PACK
President, American Nature Ass'n.
If you will look at a piece of ice in the sunlight you will see some strange and beautiful colorings. Window frost with which many are familiar, also gives you fantastic shapes. Seemingly perfectly formed leaves and other shapes are to be found on windows in winter.

Window Frost
Few people realize the diversity of the icy jewel-work with which nature in her winter moods, bedecks the earth. A block of clear, hard ice does not reveal to casual inspection the slightest hint of its complex structure. There are, however, several ways of bringing to view the innumerable starry crystals of which it is composed. One method is to rub the surface with a soft lead pencil or to dust it lightly with soot by means of a soft brush. The substance thus applied fills the slightest depressions between neighboring crystals and discloses their outlines. A coating of soot can be used in a similar way to bring out the details of the frost figures formed on window panes. Another process consists of passing a beam of light through a thin slab of ice and watching the resulting image projected on a screen. Ice is not always due to the freezing of liquid water. The ice-crystals that form the high feathery clouds and that fall as snowflakes, are produced by the change of the invisible water vapor of the atmosphere directly into the solid state. A mass of dry snow consists, roughly speaking, of one-tenth ice-crystals and nine-tenths air, by weight or volume.

See-Sawing On Broadway
By Gilbert Swan
New York—See-sawing up and down Broadway I saw Maurice, the dancer, doing some of his latest steps at a Broadway night club. And surely in this entertainer, one can find a refutation of the oft-made charge that Broadway is fickle. And that other one that age makes much difference. For 18 years Maurice has been "hoofing" on the gay white way. "Laying the leather" as they say on the curbstones. I am told he dates to the all-but-forgotten Cafe de la Opera. He had a little blond partner then. No one seems to recall her name. Or anything much about her except that she was French. And anyone who thinks it easy to stay on top on Broadway for 16 years is invited to try it. Saw Richard Barthelmess nibbling at free lunch during a farewell party given by his new movie management just before he sailed for France. And Carol Dempster, Richard Cortez and Lyla de Fatti placidly watching themselves act at a movie premiere at which they were starred. Saw Russell Medcraft, the boy prodigy from Alameda, Calif., who made so much money by writing a play that he now can afford a wife. And Raquel Meller back from Europe and so "Ritzzy" that she would not so much as speak to the ship-news reporters now that she has been snubbed by Charles Chaplin and has had seats sold at $25 per each. By the way, what ever became of that fellow—what's his name—that flew over the pole? And that girl, Gertrude something-or-other who swam the English channel? And what the dickens was the name of the girl from Oklahoma who won the Atlantic City beauty prize? Broadway didn't so much as get look at her and will never forgive her for that. Saw Luke O'Connor, the ex-saloon keeper who gave John Masefield his famous job as spittoon cleaner in a famous old bar in the Village. That was thirty years ago. Masefield now one of Britain's great poets, now comes as guest of the Morgans ad lib. While Luke lives in refined luxury on the second floor of a Village made-over tenement. And the tale goes that, after Masefield became famous, Luke's place was beset by literary ladies from Sheboygan and way ports demanding all inside information on the poetic tendencies of the lad who came into port on a sailing ship and, quite broke was taken under the wing of the fine old Irishman. So bothersome did they become that Luke got one of his newspaper friends to write out a stock list of anecdotes to be passed out whenever anyone came around asking questions. GILBERT SWAN. SAINT AND SINNER

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE
CHERRY LANE, tiny, beautiful, is playing the love game with a dozen admirers, including BOB HATHAWAY, a young architect; old MR. CLUNY, her present employer; ALBERT ETTLESON, a married traveling salesman, and CHRIS WILEY, a man of bad reputation.

FAITH LANE, unselfish and womanly, is in love with Hathaway, who comes to Faith for comfort when he discovers that Chris WileY is also making love to Cherry.

GEORGE PRUITT, rich amateur artist, proposes to Faith while the two are on a Sunday outing, but she refuses him. That evening Faith finds that Cherry has disappeared, taking most of her clothes with her. Before Faith can decide what to do, Mrs. Albert Ettleson, appears, and tells the Lane family that she has reason to believe that Cherry and Ettleson have met in Drarrow, fifty miles away, and are eloping to New York.

Mrs. Lane suffers a severe heart attack and is near death. Faith summons Bob Hathaway, and he drives Faith to Drarrow, breaking all speed laws, in time to board the limited to New York. A porter conducts Bob and Faith to the stateroom he thinks the runaways are occupying, and just as they reach it, Cherry, and just in a loud scream is heard.

CHAPTER XIX
NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
"Faith! Faith! Make him let me out! Cherry's voice, shrill, rising out the crescendo of a scream, was muffled suddenly, as if by a hand placed over her mouth.

"Let me there, Faith!" Bob Hathaway shouldered her out of the way, and flung his body against the door of the stateroom. "Open the door, Ettleson! Open right now! We're going to hold this train till you do! Let that girl out, or you'll wish you had!"

"Shall I call a cop, Boss?" the frightened negro porter whispered through dark blue lips. "He may have a gun, Boss. I wouldn't monkey with him, if I was you."

"We don't need a cop," Bob Hathaway said grimly, hurling his strength against the solid, unyielding door.

There was the grating, hoarse sound of a curse, then a hand flung against the inside of the locked door. As the lock gave, Hathaway pressed forward into the small room, his face mottled red with anger and exertion.

The tableau held for a moment—Cherry, her silk blouse torn open and half dragged from one shoulder. Her topaz eyes wide with horror and fright, the knuckles of one clenched hand thrust into her distorted mouth, whose rouge was grotesquely smeared on upper lip and cheeks; her short copper-and-gold curls dragged forward across her forehead, as if brutal fingers had clutched them; her skirt twisted awry on her slender, boyish hips. And, crouching low against a berth, a big heavy man, in a peach-colored silk shirt and white flannel trousers, a monogrammed belt buckle pressing into his soft, bulging abdomen; his straight vase-lined black hair falling in dark strings over his blood-strutted forehead; his rage-reddened black eyes popping out of a fat, porcine face; his big, startlingly white teeth clamped over his lower lip; the bristles of his short black mustache standing out rigidly like the bristles of a black tooth brush. And in his rigid, out-thrust right hand a dark-blue, snub-nosed, deadly automatic.

"Then Cherry, against the bitten knuckles of her hand, screamed again, and Albert Ettleson released his gnawed lower lip to growl a curse at her, without taking his bloodshot black eyes off Bob Hathaway.

"Give me that gun, you damned fool!" Bob Hathaway spat the words at him.

Faith darted under his outstretched arm, into the crowded, narrow stateroom and flattened her body against his. For she knew that she loved him enough to take gladly any bullet that Albert Ettleson, crazy with fear, might aim at him.

"Faith! Faith!" Cherry's fear-frozen body came to life, brushed against the crouching form of the man she had run away with, flung itself into Faith's arms.

"Give me that gun, Ettleson! There's not going to be any shooting here! Get out of this room, you mean you've made of things. Get out of the way, Faith—and you!" he threw the word at Cherry, as if he hated the sound of her name.

Faith leaned forward, without exposing Bob's body, although his arms were straining at her, and quite simply took the gun from Albert Ettleson's hand. She dropped it, as if it had been a vanity case, into the wide pocket of her white flannel suit.

"Get your things into your bag, Cherry, and put on your coat and hat," she said in a curiously matter-of-fact voice. "Mama's sick. She wants you to come right home. I told her you were visiting a friend over here."

"Well, what are you going to do?" Albert Ettleson rose to his full height, stuffy, as if he had been half paralyzed. His popping black eyes had not left Bob Hathaway's face.

"Not a damn thing—now." Bob Hathaway said with a grim regret in his even tones. "For two reasons—you've got a mighty decent wife waiting for you in the Cooper hotel and if I killed you—as I would thoroughly enjoy doing, you fat swine—I'd kill this girl's mother, too. But if you ever show your ugly, bloated face in this neck of the woods again, I'll damage it so your wife won't know you. And I don't mean maybe."

"Did he hurt you, Cherry—darling, darling?" Faith's queer matter-of-factness had melted into tears, as she watched her trembling sister hide the torn, ravaged blouse under the smart little brown velvet hat to the mauve copper curls without a glance into the strip of mirror between the windows.

"No," Cherry quivered. "I didn't mean—Faith, I wasn't going to be bad honest, I wasn't! He tricked me, Faith!"

"Tricked! God, that's good!" Albert Ettleson hitched his white flannel trousers higher upon his soft, belted, padded paunch. "I'm the bird that's been tricked, I'll tell the world! Played me for a sucker, she did! Scheming little hussy! She didn't have no intention of coming clean with me—the little—"

"That'll be about enough, Ettleson!" Bob Hathaway seized one of the man's big arms and twisted it cruelly, so that Ettleson writhed with pain and spat foul curses at him.

"Well, I guess I've got a right to tell my side of the story, ain't I?" Ettleson demanded, rubbing his abused arm with a shaking, too-white, too well-manicured hand. "I was gone no play square with her—crazy about her! Played me for a sucker, she did! Told me she'd go to New York with me—I was going to get her a chance with Feinbaum, in musical comedy. Sent her a couple hundred dollars I did, that she blew in on clothes! Played me for a grand little sucker, she did!"

"Then raised hell when she found I'd taken a drawing room. Babbling about the Mann act! Pulled the I'm-a-good-girl stuff on me! 'Touch me and I'll scream for help!' he mumbled biterly. 'I was shooting square with her, too—had already seen a lawyer about getting a divorce from my wife. Had it all fixed up. We'd been married in six months. Told her so in a letter—she knew what I wanted! She ain't no new-born kitten! She's been around—believe me, that baby's bucks and a twin to New York for a been around! Getting a couple hundred hug and a kiss!'"

While he talked, Cherry's clenched fists were pounding him upon chest and paunch, and her rage-strangled voice tried vainly to stop the flow of his bitter accusations.

"Faith! Make him stop! He's lying, promise him anything! He—he said he was going to lend me the money for my things and for a trip to New York! I didn't agree to travel with him! I swear I didn't! Believe me, Faith! Oh! Oh! I want to go home! I want Muggy!" She flung her arms about her sister, burrowed her head, like a child, against that deep, splendid bosom.

"All right, Cherry, darling! We're going to take you home! Don't cry so, dear. Bob has his car. We're going right now!"

"Can't hold this train all day!" the conductor bawled at them from the aisle, summoned there by the fear-stricken porter. "Wanta make a charge against this man, Mister?" he tugged at Bob Hathaway's sleeve.

"No," Bob answered shortly. "No. Let him go. No serious damage done, thank God! Come on, Faith—and you!" he scarcely glanced at Cherry. Stopping, he picked up her heavy suitcase, and strode down the aisle with it.

"What about my couple hundred bucks and this gold-digger's ticket to New York?" Albert Ettleson bawled after him, his cockiness coming back to him, now that danger had definitely passed him by.

"You go to hell!" Bob Hathaway flung over his shoulder and strode on without stopping.

"That awful man!" Cherry shuddered, when Bob Hathaway's car was again headed toward home—and safety. "Oh, Faith, darling, you and Bob came just in time! He was—" awful! I never dreamed—I thought he was a perfect gentleman. Honest. I did, Faith! I'd have killed myself before I'd work him—really—"

"Bob—" Cherry began, pitiously, reaching out a hand that gleamed ghost-white in the darkness. "Don't you—don't you—love me—any more?"

"Oh, for God's sake, hush!" His voice was like the lash of a whip across her face. She drew back, moaning.

"Don't be too hard on her, Bob," Faith pleaded huskily. "I don't believe she meant any harm—really—"

"Of course you don't," Hathaway said more quietly, as if he could not bear to lay the weight of an unkind word upon the gentleness of her love for Cherry. "But Ettleson was right. That's the reason—one reason—I didn't kill him or scramble his face for him. She tricked him, planned to work him for all he was worth and keep the only coin with which she could pay him back—her virtue. What's virtue like that worth—that's been bought and paid for but not delivered? Oh, God!"

Without a word, Faith laid a hand gently on his hard-muscle right arm, felt the instant quiver of his response. If she could only cradle his head on her bosom, too—kiss the grim rigidity from his strained, hard face, cool his hot blue eyes with the soft tips of her mothering fingers. She kept her hand on his arms, as though willing that peace and healing pass from her heart to his.

Cherry sobbed herself to sleep during the last ten miles, and had to be shaken gently like a tiny child, when the car drew up at the curb before the Lane house in Myrtle street.

Her round, sleep-flushed face was as innocent as a baby's when she walked into her mother's room. Faith, behind her, clenched her hands with futile anger at the cooling, dove she's engaged to me, among others."

Faith whirled out of the comforting circle of his arm and stared at him, dumb with astonishment.

WHISTON'S TALK SENT TO SCHOOLS
Copies of Commencement Address Last Spring Are Distributed

Copies of the commencement address delivered at Lawrence college in June, 1926, by Dr. Henry M. Whiston, president, have been sent to superintendents and principals of Wisconsin schools at the request of several trustees of the institution. It originally was printed at the suggestion of members of the faculty for distribution among the alumni and trustees, Prof. R. C. Mullenix, director of admissions, said in a letter accompanying the copies of the address.

Dr. Whiston in his talk attempted to interpret the spirit of the educational program undertaken by the college during his administration, it was said. The trustees and faculty felt that the educators of the state would be interested in "an ideal for a college program which is worth while and practicable and which merits the attention and cooperation of school men within the area of the influence and clientele of the college," Dr. Mullenix concluded.

Green Bay—(P)—The annual observance of Navy Day, on October 27, will be celebrated throughout Wisconsin according to reports from Lieut. James H. McGillan, U. S. N., of Green Bay who has been placed in charge of the state program.

All civic clubs in the state have been requested to take part in the annual celebration and are asked to select speakers of ability to tell just what this day means to this state and the country as a whole.

Commander McGillan will speak over radio station WBBY at DePere at 2 p. m., and this event will probably be the feature of the program in this part of the state.

At ports on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts representatives of their respective fleets will be placed in charge of the program and the navy department has ordered all ships to hold an "open boat" for visitors. Inland naval stations will also be open to the public for inspection.

THE PERFECT MOTOR OIL

CONSULT CHART

Polarine and Motoring Pleasure

A smooth running engine is the first essential to motor enjoyment.

What's the fun of motoring, if the car does not run quietly, or if it fails to glide over the enticing highways smoothly and without effort? The landscape loses its charm and the fresh air is not so fresh.

The constant use of Polarine is the one sure way to keep an engine running smoothly. Proper lubrication is the secret of smooth performance. Polarine, The Perfect Motor Oil, keeps an engine in perfect condition.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is proud to recommend Polarine as one of its major products, for Polarine represents the highest excellence in lubricants that science, money and skill can achieve.

Have the crankcase drained out today, cleaned with Polarine Flushing Oil, and refilled with the particular grade of Polarine made expressly for your car.

You'll notice the difference the minute you take the wheel. The car seems to purr with pleasure as it glides over the road with velvety smoothness. Because the engine is perfectly lubricated, every part moves with faultless precision. Listen to its soft, steady rhythm!

A smooth running car is the first essential to real motoring pleasure. Using Polarine always means few repair bills and long life to your car!

The HOME Hot Blast FURNACE

We are pleased to be able to state that after using your HOME Hot Blast Furnace exclusively in our new home for the past three years, we have yet to have a single complaint. Both the workmanship and materials used in the manufacture of HOME Furnaces are of the best, and very satisfactory. We highly recommend the engineering and installation work done by your men. Both Mr. Fox and myself are now using HOME Furnaces in our own homes. We are more than satisfied with results, as we make a saving of about 35% in fuel over the old make of furnace we used. We recommend your furnaces as absolutely reliable in every way and give you the liberty to use this letter wherever you are fit.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

FURNITURE MUST FOLLOW STYLE OF HOUSE; HARMONY IS NOT SACRIFICED TO "PERIODS"

BY JAMES BLAUVELT

THE history of furniture is the history of civilization. The house hold articles with which man has surrounded himself through the ages have reflected his taste and his interests at each period of his progress. It will always be possible to judge a household by the furniture it gathers around it. Not only because impeccable taste will reflect credit on the home maker, but also because it materially adds to the enjoyment of the home, is it necessary for the mistress of the household to study furniture before she makes her choice. Architectural line is fundamentally important in furniture. Wherever possible, it must follow to some extent the architectural type of the house itself, and the structure of the room. Harmony of line and color and scale is far more important than a strict adherence to "periods."

KNOW YOUR HISTORY
However, it is best to learn something about the historic periods in furniture before you begin to combine them. The marks which distinguish periods may be seen in the shape of the backs and legs of chairs and tables in the ornamental detail, in the carvings and metal accessories, and in the upholstery and wood.

We know that before the Renaissance there was no upholstery, and furniture was massive and crude and somewhat uncomfortable. Later, cane seats and backs and ornamental carvings were introduced in an effort toward luxury and beauty.

With Louis XIII, velvets and tapestries and damasks came into use for upholstery chairs and couches and for beds. Each successive period is an increasing feeling for beauty and comfort in household goods.

After gaining a general knowledge of periods and tradition, the home maker needs a few practical hints on the choice of individual pieces.

First of all, there is the question of woods. Oak, cherry and cypress came into use in Elizabethan and Jacobean times; walnut, beech and holly were first extensively used between 1650 and 1700; the early American woods were pine, oak, walnut and elm, until 1820, when maple and mahogany from San Domingo were added to the list.

Many women ask: "May we use several woods in the same room?" Here again, I must plead for variety, rather than monotony. Blend of wood with care, several different woods give far more charm to a room than a "set" of any one material. Walnut is successfully combined with the dulcer colors of mahogany, with cherry, and even with certain shades of maple.

Stylings and materials must be blended intelligently according to a knowledge of history and of art. Thus, you will not hesitate to use a Chinese lacquered cabinet in a Queen Anne room if you know that the Queen Anne period actually introduced Chinese furnishings into England and Holland, as a result of the opening of the great Oriental trade.

Lacquers may be adapted to many types of rooms, because its rich color and design add piquancy and variety, without interfering with the general scheme.

"Sets" of furniture have, happily, gone the way of many conventional ugly things. Even dining rooms are being furnished with miscellaneous pieces, and are benefitting greatly by the innovation.

The arrangement of furniture is almost as important as its selection. The decorator must first draw a sketch, to scale, of the room he is working on. Then he must mark the large spaces and decide what heavy pieces shall go into them. The smaller pieces then can be grouped more easily.

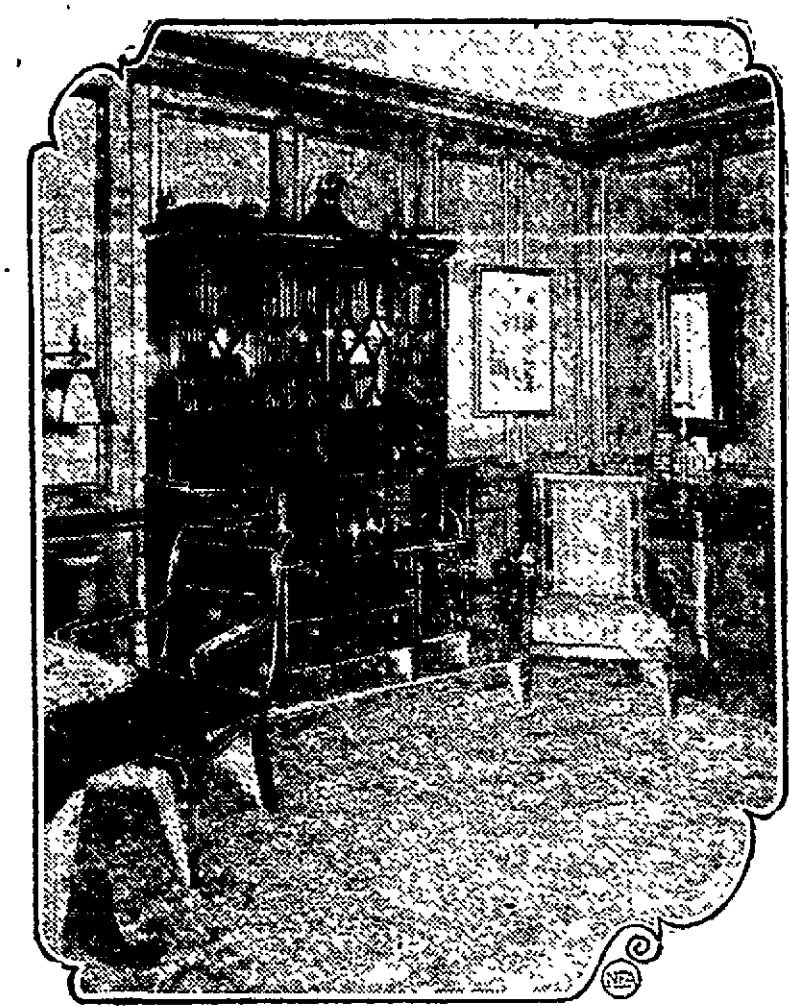

Observe the principles of balance in plotting your floor and wall space. Do not overload one side of the room with heavy pieces, leaving the other side almost empty.

Place large articles of furniture in relation to the architectural lines of the room. For example, in a long narrow room, place your davenport along the long side of the room, rather than crosswise in the center, where it would cut the room in two. Of course, if the room is very large, or almost square, this crosswise placing would be correct.

A heavy davenport placed against the shorter wall is liable to overbalance the other end of the room.

And now about antiques! Do not fall into the snare that unscrupulous dealers are setting daily for American buyers everywhere. Remember that only a fraction of the "antiques" sold in America deserve the name, and that it takes an expert to distinguish the real from the spurious.

Good reproductions, however, are to be desired. In fact, I consider a good reproduction superior to an original, unless the original is in a state of exceptionally good preservation, or is a family heirloom, in which case, of course, its sentimental value is incalculable.

GIVE MOTHER A FEW HOLIDAYS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

IT WAS inevitable that the labor union of a certain city should meet to discuss the possibility of a five-day week, after a large manufacturing concern had established a precedent.

Sure and it would be a grand world if we could do all our work in five days and have a Roman holiday on the others.

If we get down to cases let us consider the variety of workers who might feel privileged to lay off work for two whole days a week. For instance there is the doctor. He gets up early and works until ten at night and then some nights he never gets to bed at all. I am sure he would enjoy it. Let the world have its babies and appendices and accidents. He should worry! Nurses would be able to go off duty and hospitals close until sunday Monday morning. Trains and street cars would stop for two days—a peaceful world without a wheel turning! No milkman, no grocer, no hotels open—everyone on a grand holiday!

But there is still home sweet home! Oh, but then, home is closed too. That perpetual motion expert who never stops, who gets three meals a day, washes all the dishes, makes the beds, washes, irons, darns, cleans, and makes life comfortable for every one but herself, the high powered seven-day worker known as Mother is also observing union hours. What is good for the sander should be good for the goose. Off she's gone for her two legitimate days vacation. They say it's a "long worm that has no turning." I'd give something to know what labor unions would do if wives struck for a five-day week.

I'd give something to know what anyone would do if mothers and wives struck for a six-day week even. Boys and girls and fathers, why not take mother by the shoulders next Sunday morning and push her gently out of the door and tell her she is "fired" for twenty-four hours? And for other Sundays to come! No human being has the right to the freedom of another, day in and day out, even though she be "just mother."

Her Own Way

A STORY OF A GIRL OF TODAY

JERRY CALLS

Again I started for my room, but I was not to have that hour before I should dress for dinner without another interruption.

Jerry Hathaway could not resist calling me up and telling me that he had gotten himself invited to go with our party.

I was sorry I answered the telephone as I heard the triumphant note in his voice—I really didn't want him to go—I wanted to make my decision without him.

"Is that you, Judy?"

"Yes," I answered shortly.

"You don't act very glad to hear my voice."

"I am not."

"Then I presume that Miss Meredith has told you that she has invited me to the party this evening."

"She told me, Jerry, that you had managed by saying I had a previous engagement with you to get yourself invited. However, I am afraid she forgot that it really was her brother's party instead of hers."

"So that's it, is it?" said Jerry, in a rather ugly tone of voice. "You didn't feel that it was a business engagement that you had to keep with Joan, but a date, that rather picked your curiosity, with her brother?"

"I saw I had made a mistake and tried to make matters better, but only succeeded in making them worse."

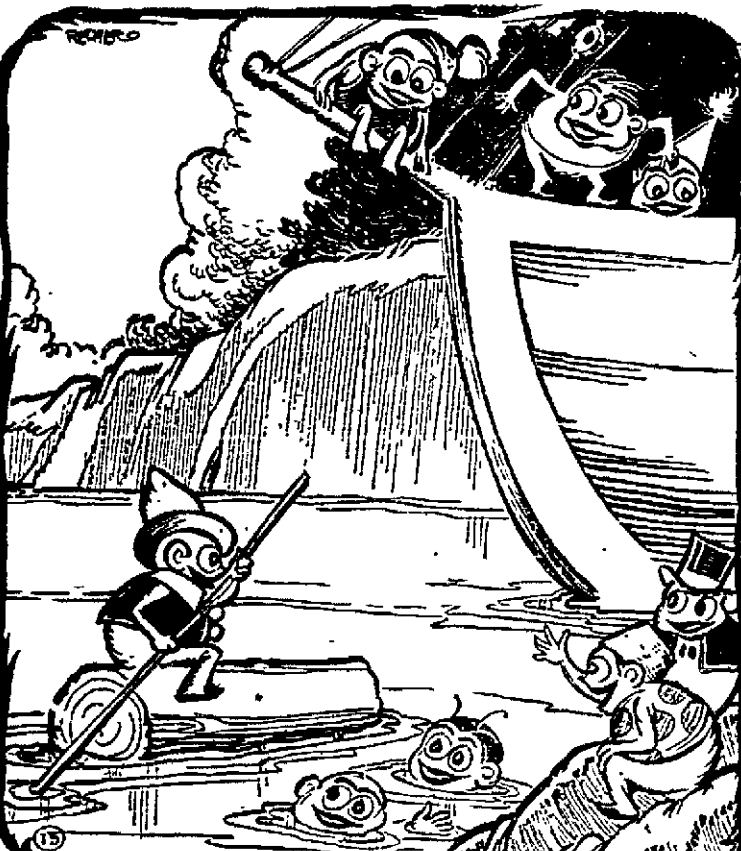

"You know, Jerry, that this evening will be the first time in all his life that John Meredith has ever made his appearance in a public place like a restaurant or a theater. For some reason he seemed to want to go with me and of course Joan was most enthusiastic about it. She may not have wanted me to go as her secretary, but she certainly made it very clear that she wanted me to go as her friend."

"Judy Dean, are you thinking of throwing me over for that wealthy cripple?"

"Jerry Hathaway, if you speak to me like that again I will surely hang up this receiver. Now as long as you are going with me I want you to use your influence and get the most conspicuous table at your father's restaurant. I am just silly enough to

THE TINYMITES

By Hal Cochran

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

A fire was built upon the ground and fish were cooked till they were browned and then the Tynymites began to eat a wondrous meal. It isn't good to eat so fast, so they went slow and made it last. Of course they knew, when people stuff, how terrible they feel.

Said Scouty, when the meal was through, "I'll tell you what we ought to do. Let's rest awhile, digest our food, then take a dandy swim."

The plan was very good indeed, and every Tynymite agreed. They felt that swimming exercise would keep them all in trim.

What could they swim in? Goodness knows they couldn't simply wear their clothes, 'cause every little Tynymite would catch a nasty cold. 'Twould be all right to swim, no doubt, but not so good when they came out. So Scouty saved the day and said, "Just watch what I unfold."

He opened up a bundle small, and showed he had suits for them all. "Hurrah," they loudly shouted. Then they headed for the cave. A half hour passed, then out they came. Of course they didn't look the same. Poor Clowny's suit was much too large. You should have heard him rave.

Down to the stream they ran pell mell. When Scouty dived, he said, "It's swell." So all the others followed him, "scat Clowny Tynymite. They called to him, "Aw, sakes alive," come on, let's see you do a dive."

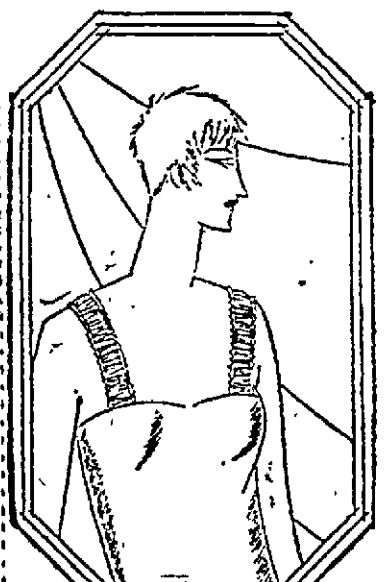

And Clowny answered, "Sure, now watch, and I will do it right."

Into the air he went. Then THUD—and Clowny landed in the mud. And when he reappeared he was a funny sight to see. The whole band laughed, "Ta, ha, ho, ho." Of course poor Clowny didn't know the place where he had picked to dive was shallow as could be.

350 Attend Valley Meet Of League

About 350 delegates, representing Walther league societies from Oshkosh, Berlin, Waupun, Greenville, Kaukauna, Neenah and societies from St. Matthew, St. Paul and Mt. Olive Lutheran churches, attended the rally given for Walther league societies of the Fox River valley zone Sunday at Mt. Olive Lutheran church with the Junior and Senior Olive branch societies as hosts.

A luncheon was served at noon to about 225 persons after the special service at 10 o'clock. The Rev. R. E. Ziesemer, pastor of the local church, delivered the sermon. Mrs. Charles Bohl, president of the Ladies Aid society of Mt. Olive Lutheran church, was chairman of the committee in charge of the luncheon.

Prof. E. H. Engelbrecht of Oak Park, Ill., was the principal speaker. His subject was the Object of the Walther league. Mr. Engelbrecht is international field secretary of the Walther league. The Rev. A. Aaron, a missionary in the Onondia reservation, told of his experiences in missionary work.

K. J. Buchhop of Oshkosh, zone president, presided at the business session held Sunday afternoon. Reports were given by A. B. Rowold of Milwaukee, president of the South Wisconsin district; Arnold Moser of Milwaukee, treasurer; and Martin Bruening of Milwaukee, seals manager. Miss Verna Schrieber of Oshkosh was elected zone secretary and treasurer at the business session. After the business meeting a dinner was served by the Ladies Aid society in the church parlors. In the evening a song service was given by the Mt. Olive choir. Prof. Theodore Stoelzer of Oshkosh played several organ selections. An informal program of entertainment was given after the song service. Games and stunts were played and songs were sung.

PARTIES

The Intermediate department of the Congregational Sunday school is to hold a Halloween party from 4 to 7 o'clock next Saturday afternoon in the church hall. Miss Audrey Bailey is the teacher of this class.

Several friends surprised Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cunningham at their home 1202 N. Harriman-st., Saturday evening in honor of their first wedding anniversary. Five hundred was played and prizes were won by Mrs. Harry Cunningham and Frank C. Koch. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Koch and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cunningham.

Friends and relatives from Kimberly, Kaukauna and Appleton were guests at a birthday party given in honor of Mrs. Ben Ehlike of Winneconne at that village Sunday. Guests at the party were Mr. and Mrs. John Ehlike and family, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Ehlike and family and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Madison of Appleton; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Ehlike, Kimberly; and Mr. and Mrs. Winfred Hess, Kaukauna.

The guests were entertained at dinner at noon at the home Mrs. Ehlike's mother, Mrs. Arnold Bertsch, and at a supper in the evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ehlike. The afternoon was spent informally.

Frank Guertiz entertained at a 7 o'clock dinner in the Blue room of the Conway hotel Saturday evening. Fifteen guests attended.

Louis Lutz, manager of Fishers Appleton theatre, entertained members of his staff at dinner at 10 o'clock Saturday evening at the Conway hotel. Fourteen guests were present.

Mr. and Mrs. John Conway entertained at dinner in the Blue room of the Conway hotel Sunday noon in honor of special guests from out-of-town who attended the wedding of Miss Virginia O'Connor, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. D. J. O'Connor, and Edmund J. Lachmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Lachmann of Neenah, Saturday morning. Fourteen persons were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Morritz Heinemann, 403 N. Bennett-st., were surprised by about 25 friends Sunday evening. Cards were played and prizes were won by William Van Ryzin, Joseph Loesel and Peter Schwartz at schafkopf. James Schwerbel at skat and Mrs. Edward LaFond and Mrs. Arthur Tratz at dice.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Weyenberg, 1427 N. Oneida-st., entertained at dinner at 6 o'clock Sunday evening in honor of their nineteenth wedding anniversary. Covers were laid for 18. Music and cards furnished entertainment for the evening. Prizes at cards were won by Mr. and Mrs. Jake Weyenberg of Kaukauna.

Mr. and Mrs. August Haberbecker, 542 N. Lavest, entertained about 40 relatives and friends Sunday evening at a dinner at 6 o'clock, the occasion being Mr. Haberbecker's birthday anniversary. Games were played during the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Zuehlis and children of Green Bay were the out of town guests.

Members of the Clarion staff, Appleton high school yearbook, had a party at the H. C. Getschow cottage on Lake Winnebago, Friday evening. A picnic supper was served, and songs and dancing followed. Miss Dora Kelly, Miss Esther Graef and J. Raymond Walsh chaperoned the party. About 25 students were present. The staff was appointed last week.

COME!

DO not miss seeing the Kickernick Demonstration. It is unusual. It absolutely proves that complete freedom of motion is possible in Kickernick-Patented Undergarments. This freedom of motion is secured by the long back which is suspended from the short front by means of small pleats at the sides which provide for the activities of the hip joints.

Combinettes, Stepinettes, Fitted-tops

Three New Garments

With the featured "long-wear" Kickernick Patented Construction

For those who know Kickernick Undergarments, there is a real treat in store in the presentation of these three new style garments of tailored charm, but with distinct feminine attributes. For women who have yet to become acquainted with Kickernicks there is something more: a revelation of comfort with smartness greater than you could imagine possible—until you have tried them.

The Combinette

(Open Style)

There is a distinct femininity distinguishing this new style Combinette achieved without the sacrifice of a single "Kickernick" quality.

It is in open-style, but so constructed that it will not pull, twist or ride up on the leg as the ordinary "teddy" so often does.

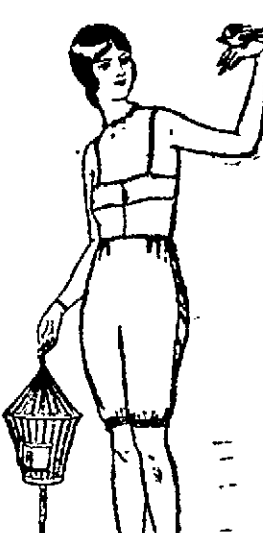

Moreover, it is form-fitting—comfortable sheathing the figure; adapting itself to the slender silhouette of the spring mode.

In short, eliminating all of the disadvantages of the ordinary "teddy," it retains its easy and convenient use (it is so simple to slip into), its coolness and dainty femininity.

Fashioned of novelty cottons and finest silks in the Kickernick way.

The Stepinettes Are

A bit of a garment that women who prefer step-ins will acclaim at once! For these dainty little things are only 18 inches long. Yet in them is a degree of comfort that only women who know Kickernicks can imagine—a comfort that makes them practical and serviceable.

New Kickernick
Fitted-top
Combinettes

The Fitted-top

(Combinette)

Two garments in one! Briefly, that is the joy of this new garment just added to the Kickernick family—for the "fitted-top" is a brassiere-topped Combinette.

A garment with the upper part so carefully fitted as to give a delightful sense of support—so necessary under the soft, clinging underdress of today.

A garment in whose smartness discriminating women will revel—for the combinette, in open, elastic or cuffed knee style is pleated on to the brassiere top with an inimitable grace of line.

Of course the comfort construction of the Kickernick garments is the basis upon which they are fashioned, with the added features of coolness in the elimination of an extra garment of convenience in one less pair of straps!

Dainty And Practical

They are made with the Kickernick Patented Features, to be sure—preventing riding, twisting or cutting—freedom from strain in any position—and with the perfection of finish that is typical of all Kickernick garments, distinguishing them as readily as does their construction.

The complete Kickernick line of bloomers and elastic and cuff-knee combinettes in the new fabrics and colors is here!

TOWNSKAWMEN PREPARE FOR TUSSLE WITH TWO RIVERS TEAM

Want to Win Final Game Before Annual Battle With Appleton

Kaukauna—"Two Rivers next." That is the high school football team motto for the coming week. Although Two Rivers was given a 44 to 0 beating by East Green Bay Saturday the Orange and Black is not taking chances of losing its last game before the all-important clash with Appleton. East has one of the best teams in state and has only lost one game, that to Marinette which in turn has beaten everything in the state, including Eau Claire, Marquette high and Sheboygan. Marinette has a good chance for the unofficial state championship. Coach Smith has not let up on his men the last week and they are going at top speed. Kaukauna has a bigger job than ever now to defeat Appleton after the good showing made by the Orange and Blue in the game with West Green Bay Saturday in which they clearly outplayed the Baymen all through the game. Had the Orange and Blue won the game, they would have won the Kaukauna title. The Kaukauna would like nothing better than to slip a win over the College City prep team.

ADVANCEMENT CLUB TO DISCUSS ZONING

Appleton Lawyer Will Be Chief Speaker at Meeting Wednesday Evening

Kaukauna—City zoning will be the most important question to be taken up at the regular meeting of the Kaukauna Advancement association to be held Wednesday evening in the council rooms of the municipal administration building. P. S. Bradford, an Appleton attorney, will speak to the association on zoning. Mr. Bradford is a member of the planning commission in Appleton. There has been considerable agitation in this city for a zoning ordinance which will permit certain types of buildings to be erected only in parts of the city set aside for that purpose. Another big benefit of the zoning ordinance is that it will keep the residential and industrial districts of the city separate and will be impossible to build an industrial plant in a residential district, it is said. Zoning has been quite actively discussed in many of the city council meetings during the past year. Alderman J. J. Martens, Frank Belgie and John Dittler are on the committee in charge of dinner arrangements.

COUPLE ENTERTAINS AT
MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

Hilbert—Last Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Behnke entertained the following relatives and friends, at a miscellaneous shower: for their daughter, Belulah, who was married Tuesday: Ed. PEDDLER PAYS FINE FOR FAILING TO GET PERMIT

Kaukauna—M. Belzer, fruit dealer of Appleton, was taken into Justice Schwan's court Saturday morning for peddling produce in the city without a license. He pleaded guilty to the charge and paid a fine of $10 and costs amounting to $11.25.

RUNTES AND MAYTAGS IN FIGHT FOR SECOND PLACE

Kaukauna—H. T. Runt's bowling squad will meet the Maytag Washers in the feature bowling match of the Kaukauna Business Men's Bowling League Wednesday evening on the Higgenberg alleys. The teams are for second place and a win for either team will put them within striking distance of the lead. Another game of importance will be the match between Andrews Oil and Mulford's. The loser will be in the cellar. Mulford's are holding down the basement now. The complete schedule for Wednesday evening is as follows:

7 o'clock shift—Bayorgens vs. Runt's; 8 o'clock shift—Maytag Washers vs. Andrews Oil; Kaukauna Lumber Co. vs. Pendergast's.

League standings:

W. L. Pot.

Felled Tree Blocks Road
West Of Forest Junction

Special to Post-Crescent
Forest Junction—State trunk highway 18 was unofficially blocked during the night from Friday to Saturday by one of two large trees which were felled along the side of the road. The obstructing tree was one of several along the south side of the road which were the subject of controversy between their owner, Herman Bloy, and the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat & Power Co., which is extending its line into the town of Woodville. Arrangements for the extension of the line from School's corner, on the military road, south to Wrench's cheese factory and then east on highway 18 to the Otto Luckow farm had been made some months ago. When the line of poles was recently set, the owner of the trees in question objected to their cutting without a payment for the accommodation which the power company declined to meet.

WORK FOR LEGION
IN ONEIDA DRIVE

All Ex-service Men Urged to Join Newly Started Organization

Oneida—The American legion boys of Oneida gave a dance last Saturday night at Anderson Schuyler's home. The legion is just a new organization out here and all ex-soldiers are urged to join.

A supper was given at Julius Webster's place last Tuesday night for the benefit of Isaac Hill who is very ill. Miss Melissa Cornsman and Mrs. Minnie Hill have gone to Chicago to seek employment.

Herman Rosenthal and family have moved into old Martin Metgains place.

There are a lot of cases of whooping cough in the community.

There is to be a bazaar at the immaculate Conception parish next Sunday.

Two unidentified cars, one an Overland and the other a Ford touring car collided last Wednesday night on county trunk E road.

A large number of people attended the auction sale at Tony Newhouse's place.

Wm. Kloss has gone to Crandon to work for the winter.

eral along the south side of the road which were the subject of controversy between their owner, Herman Bloy, and the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat & Power Co., which is extending its line into the town of Woodville. Arrangements for the extension of the line from School's corner, on the military road, south to Wrench's cheese factory and then east on highway 18 to the Otto Luckow farm had been made some months ago. When the line of poles was recently set, the owner of the trees in question objected to their cutting without a payment for the accommodation which the power company declined to meet.

With the matter unsettled, some time on Friday evening, two of the trees were mysteriously felled. The trees, both of which were standing on the owner's side of the fence, were saved off unnoticed. One of them fell into the land, the other above the fence, directly across the road; the limbs striking down the Calumet Telephone Co.'s line on the other side. It appears to have been the intention of the trespassing party to fell all of the disputed trees, but this was presumably interrupted when one of them falling in the wrong direction inadvertently blocked traffic on the highway.

FOUR MILE DETOUR
The trees are within sight of the owner's residence, but the house is several rods from the road at the end of a long lane. The owner did not become aware of the misdeed until later in the evening when the congestion of traffic was observed. Traffic made a four mile detour around the section until Saturday morning when the debris was cleared away.

The large elm tree at the location, a landmark, after which the so-called "Elm Tree" road into the village of Dundas is named, was unmolested.

FORGER IS PLACED ON PROBATION BY JUDGE AT CHILTON

Albert Schimmer, Appleton, Is Given Stay of Sentence by Court

Special to Post-Crescent
Chilton—Albert Schimmer of Appleton, who was arrested in Appleton last week by Sheriff John Dietrich charged with forgery, was tried in circuit court this week and sentenced to from one to three years in the state reformatory at Green Bay. Execution of the sentence was stayed by the court on the restitution of the amount of the checks by the defendant and the payment to the county of costs involved. He was placed on probation under the state board of control for the period of his sentence. R. G. Jones, probation officer of the state board of control, took charge of the youth, who will be put to work, his wages being used to restore the money obtained by the forged checks.

FAMILIES EXCHANGE
SONS FOR EDUCATION

Minneapolis, (AP)—Two families, one in Minneapolis and the other in Vienna, Austria, have "exchanged" sons for a year to further their educational advantages.

Dr. Frank S. Bissell's 18-year-old son has gone to Vienna to live with Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Schuller there and attend the University of Vienna, while Franz Schuller, 19, has come to live with the Bissells here, and attend the University of Minnesota.

and included the crops and all personal property.

Henry Schaub of the town of Brillion sold his farm containing 85 acres, with personal property, to Robert Luedtke of the town of Rockland, Manitowoc-co, for $12,500. The Luedtke family will take immediate possession and Mr. and Mrs. Schaub will move to the village of Brillion.

Walter Stecker of the town of Rantoul purchased from Alois Heilmann his 60-acre farm for $12,000. Mr. Stecker will take possession March 1.

Adam Bonlander purchased the 60-acre farm belonging to John Mahlborg in the town of Russell, Sheboygan-co this week, and took immediate possession. The purchase price was $13,900.

JOB SEEKERS ARE EXCEEDING JOBS, SURVEY INDICATES

Construction Work Is Still Available, but Inside Jobs Are Taken

There are a large number of men looking for manual labor and high school and vocational school students seeking part time work, a survey of various employment agencies in the city discloses. Officials at the Appleton Woman's club refused to comment on the situation in regard to the demand for girls, although all other bureaus submitted reports.

At the M. C. A. bureau there is a steady call for common laborers in construction work. However this type of work does not seem to appeal to the average working man and a result there is a big demand in some parts of the city for common laborers.

At the Appleton Vocational school employment bureau there are many applications of high school boys who desire after school and Saturday work, and also a large number of applications of students who wish to do part time work. About seven boys were placed on part time jobs last week, but there is still many times that number seeking work.

At the paper mills, all the steady positions inside have been filled, but at those places where construction work is underway there is a demand for common laborers. Most of the habitual summer drifters have succeeded in getting inside positions for the winter and they will remain in this work until spring.

At the machine shops there is no demand for common laborers, although some skilled workmen could be placed. There have been many applications at the mills for jobs during the past two weeks but only skilled workmen can be used.

APPLETON TIRE SHOP ADDS TO WORK SPACE

Construction of a one story brick addition, 22 feet wide by 30 feet long was started this week at the rear of the Appleton Tire shop, 218 E. College-ave. The addition is to be completed within two weeks. The work was let to the George Ashman Construction Co.

LLOYD'S LATEST SETS NEW THRILL RECORD

"The Eagle of the Sea," starts sailing across the silver screen at the Fischers Appleton theater today, Tuesday and Wednesday. This Frank Lloyd production is a tale of pirates in the days when "a life on the ocean wave" was pretty damned lively.

Ricardo Cortez, co-featured with Florence Vidor, has the most colorful role of his career as Lafitte, bravest of buccaneers. Entering New Orleans with a price on his head, he becomes enamored of lovely Louise Lestron. She returns Jean's affection until his identity is unexpectedly revealed.

Then begins the most amazing series of events ever pictured in films. Louise is kidnapped and taken aboard an outgoing vessel. Lafitte gathers his corsair crew and—! "LOVE OF LIFE" REAL

"STELLA DALLAS" KEY Does romance flower in the heart of every girl or must that impulse first be planted and bloom in specially prepared soil, nurtured by the warmth of sunshine?

Within the ken of every one interested in romance—and that makes it unanimous—is some one young woman born with romance radiating from her smile, eyebeams and gestures. Then again, everyone knows the type of girl never troubled by romance until some revolutionary event from the outside jolts her love, surprising even to the girl herself.

"Stella Dallas" the leading character in Olive Higgins Prouty's novel, was a girl who lived, dreamed, walked and talked romance. As "Stella" is pictured in Henry King's film production, her romantic personality is recreated and made more vivid by realism. Romance was in Stella's heart, romance exuded from her every moment, and its colorful dreams suffused her being, and kept her moaning at her hum-drum work in a little mill town.

Belle Bennett plays the romantic role of Stella. Ronald Colman is her sweetheart. Alice Joyce, Jean Hersholt, Lois Moran and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., complete as great an all-Samuel Goldwyn's presentation of St. r east as ever appeared in one film. This Henry King production for United Artists corporation is showing at the Elite theatre 4 days starting today.

which comes to the New Bijou today for three days.

It is something new in the way of a story, something that is not purely a detective yarn, nor yet the story of a crook, but into which each element is blended in a way that will hold the attention of the audience from start to finish.

The plot centers around a beautiful young girl who discovers her fiancé has broken his word to her and gone back to his profession as a burglar on the morning of their wedding. He comes to her apartment, while escaping from the police, and she becomes implicated in the affair through shielding him. They escape to a sailing vessel.

one of a fleet of rum runners, followed closely by the detective. Once aboard the boat the captain proves friendly to the young couple, and the owner of the boat, and the contraband liquor enterprise turns out to be an old enemy of the detective.

From that moment on the action becomes more and more intense working up to a totally unexpected and unusual climax and ending.

Edward Piel, noted for his ability to portray sinister characters, is cast in the heavy role with Paul Panzer aiding him, his villainies. Harvey Clark, Doris Lloyd and Sam Blum complete the cast.

THE MORAL EFFECT

The moral effect of fidelity Bonds on your employees is alone worth the cost, aside from the indemnity they furnish for actual losses.

Many large firms bond everybody, from the President down to the janitor, because, as they say, consciousness of being bonded creates a feeling of responsibility not otherwise induced.

No firm which has invested in Fidelity Bonds has ever discontinued this protection.

If you are not already carrying this protection NOW is a good time to find out all about Fidelity Bonds and what they will do for you. I'll be glad to tell you. No obligations of course.

Showing the strength which made them a favorite for the valley conference bunting in early season, Coach Joseph Shields' Orange gridmen all but wiped the strong West Green Bay team off Whiting field Saturday afternoon, but misplays at critical moments forced a 14-14 tie. The Purple was outplayed the entire game and scored both markers on errors in judgement by local backs. A misplay by Johnston in the final half gave the Bays the 14-14 tie rather than a 14-0 win for Appleton. Meanwhile Appleton drove down the field to earn its two markers and three other times lost the ball within striking distance of the enemy goal, once on the two-yard line.

The Manitowoc-Oshkosh football game at Oshkosh Saturday, which was won by the invaders, 13-12 may be protested by the Sawdust city school, according to reports from Oshkosh. Manitowoc is alleged to have scored one touchdown illegally. The Oshkosh officials will take the matter up with the valley conference officials.

performed well on ends with the former protecting his wing in great style. The Getschow-Kuntz combination opened large holes for the Orange backs, and Capt. Pfefferle at tackle played his usual stellar game on defense. In their war Johnston was the outstanding star, though Lutz, Witke and Strutz and Roemer were not far behind.

Johnston carried the ball from one end of the field to the other on plunges and punts which could not be stopped. His punting of a slippery ball from 35 to 55 yards featured the tussle. Lutz shone on defense, twice nabbing Purple runners with a clear field in sight. The game was played on a muddy field and the drizzle which fell throughout kept the Herber-Quinn scrimmage the Orange from working effectively though Appleton knocked down many a pass.

For Green Bay the work of Herber and Johnston, the center, featured. Herber's running back of punts gave the Bays their largest gains, while his heaves always were dangerous. From the backfield, Herber made about three times as many yards as the Purple and had about a dozen more first downs.

Appleton scored in the first five minutes of play after Johnston had sent a long spiral out of bounds on the Bay 10-yard line. The Purple kicked to Appleton's 35-yard line. On the second play Strutz broke through the Purple line for 12 yards. After a five-yard penalty for the Baymen Johnston carried the ball to the one-yard stripe on plunges and Lutz took it over with a quarterback sneak. Lutz dropped the ball for extra point.

The Orange lost a chance to score. After Johnston had kicked out of bounds on Green Bay's 7 yard line and Herber had gained 11 yards around end, Herber faked a punt and dropped the ball when rushed by Orange forwards. Cookson recovered on the Bay 11-yard line. Here Lutz called for a pass on the first play and Borchers intercepted it, racing 55-yards to the Orange 35-yard line before stepping out of bounds. After the Orange had blocked two passes of the Herber-Quinn duo and the Bay had received a punt, Herber faked a 25-yard dropkick which went wide.

To start the second quarter, the Purple scored on Lutz' misplay to tie the count. Herber punted to Lutz who let the ball roll and then fumbled it, finally dropping it on his own 1-yard

UNDEFEATED TEAMS IN EAST LOOK FOR "HIDDEN DYNAMITE"

Defeat of Yale by Brown, Dartmouth by Harvard, Causes Fear to Leaders

New York—Eleven undefeated eastern college football teams are scanning their schedules in search of hidden dynamite for the under dog is having his day.

Yale's wonder team is out of the race for the mythical title, having been beaten by Brown 7 to 0. Next Saturday Yale plays Army, which swamped Boston university, 41 to 0 and has not been defeated.

Harvard, in defeating Dartmouth, 16 to 12, for the first time in four years, showed definite indications of coming greatness. Boston college also kept rival cleats from its goal line. Georgetown, with one loss has scored the most points, 187.

Colgate within a hairs breadth of consummation of a long standing desire to trim the Navy saw victory snatched away by a 59 yard run by Lloyd for a touchdown.

Princeton holds a 7 to 6 win over Lehigh and Columbia trounced Duke 24 to 0.

PACKERS WALLOP RACINE, 35 TO 0

Tornadoes Easy Victims of Hustling Bays; Boettcher Stars for Racine

Green Bay—In the last home game of the season, the Green Bay Packers downed the Racine team 35 to 0 in a game which was one sided from its beginning.

The Packers made a touchdown in the first two minutes of play on a forward pass after recovering a Racine punt which had been blocked. From then on the Horlick city crew had no chance for the Packers backs riddled their line for big gains and also filled the air with numerous forward passes which the Racine team seemed unable to stop.

Kernwein's punt was blocked by the Packers on the 23-yard line and after 2 or 3 line plays Macauliffe passed over the goal line to Flaherty for the first touchdown. Flaherty, who made a sensational catch of this pass had a great day, catching five passes all for big gains and of the sensational variety.

The second touchdown came shortly after. Racine attempted a pass which Kotal intercepted in midfield and carried back to the 20-yard line. Several line plays and a penalty for Racine brought the ball to the 5-yard line from where Basing plunged through for the score.

The next scoring came in the middle of the second quarter when Mathys passed to Kotal across the goal line after a series of passes and running plays brought the ball to the 5-yard line. From this time until the fourth quarter the Racine team braced and held the Packers scoreless.

A series of line plunges swept the Racine team back toward their goal and shortly after the last quarter began Harris went across the line for a marker. The last touchdown came almost as the final whistle blew. Line plunges carried the ball to the 10-yard line from where Harris took it over as the whistle sounded. Purdy made 4 of the point after touchdowns and Woodin kicked the other.

To say who starred for the Packers would be difficult as all of the men gave a great exhibition. For Racine, Stehr and Boettcher played good games in the back line and Erum played a nice game in the line. His injuries in the last quarter seemed to weaken the Racine line.

FUNERAL OF HARRY GREB ON WEDNESDAY

Pittsburgh Pa.—(P)—Funeral services for Harry Greb, former world's middleweight boxing champion, will be held from St. Philomena's Catholic church here Wednesday morning. The body of the former titleholder arrived Sunday from Atlantic City where he died Friday following an operation and was removed to the home of a sister.

The public will be permitted to view the body until late Tuesday night.

LEADS FORMIDABLE ELEVEN

University of West Virginia, always rated among the country's leaders in football, promises to live up to the past reputation this season.

Under coach Ira Rodgers and Captain McHenry, the Mountaineers are cutting up as usual. Washington and Lee, which held Princeton to a 7-7 tie, was decisively defeated by West Virginia.

In its game with Georgetown, the West Virginians also upset the dope by winning 13-10, in a last minute rally. Eastern experts had made Georgetown a strong favorite.

Michigan, Ohio State Favorites In Big Ten

Chicago—(P)—The race for football while Ohio's decisive defeat of Iowa, supremacy in the Big Ten bowl which is barely under way, but to some observers it is about all over but the shouting.

Some prophets see only Michigan in line writing on the wall but others are keeping a weather eye on the cloud of Ohio State is kicking up and say it won't be over until the leading contenders face each other for the ultimate test on Nov. 13.

Michigan last years conference victory has an impressive start with victories over Minnesota and Illinois.

BADGERS GET BIG TEST WITH GOPHER

Madison—Wisconsin's Badgers, who have loomed to date in the Big Ten conference grid chase as somewhat of an interloper, will satisfy the curiosity of all critics this Saturday when Little's eleven is scheduled to tangle in the historic football classic with their ancient rivals, Minnesota.

The portly Dr. Spears will bring his Gopher squad down out of the north highly favored to break a string of three draws in the past three meetings of Wisconsin and the Gophers.

However, regardless of the speculations of the scribes, this annual clash between the Cardinal and their northern neighbors has each year been a battle, and the 1926 engagement will not be an exception to the rule. In material and experience Dr. Spears has the edge on George Little, but it is not at all improbable that the latter will impress this fact sufficiently upon his proteges to offset the advantage with determination and fight.

The Minneapolis press agents have been free in advertising the presence of the last national at the Minnesota camp in years. Other cities have upheld their belief in selecting the Gophers with Michigan as possible champions. In the face of such reports they have been defeated twice, but each time by great football machines; namely those compiled by Mr. Rockne and Mr. Yost. And both defeats it would seem that the breaks were not with Dr. Spears, and that the scores were not just indications of the relative strength of the competing elevens.

The veteran squad is headed by such stars as "Herb" Joesting, "Shorty" Almquist, "Dutch" Arendsen, "Bob" Peplaw, Harold Barnhart, Leonard Walsh, Roger Wheeler, Nydahl, Don Riddell and "Andy" Geer. The first mentioned Joesting is rated as one of the country's greatest plunging backs, and rightly so.

JOLLY FIVE GIRLS TAKE CLOSE MATCH

Jolly Five girls of the Tuttle Press Co. lost two out of three games of a match rolled Friday evening against McCarter's Boys. Though losing the two games the girls took the match by a 9 pin margin. The male leggers opened with a 33 pin win and then added 12 more. In the last game the girls copied a 64 pin tilt.

Added by the only 200 score of the evening, a 201, C. Olson of the Boys was high fun. Besides his single score he garnered high series with a 512. For the girls D. Arndt was high with a 162 single game score and a 435 high series.

Just a matter of two or three inches kept Coach Catlin's Lawrence college grid coach from defeating its traditional rival, the Crimson of Ripon college, at Ripon Saturday afternoon. The contest, which ended in a scoreless tie, was the central feature of Ripon's annual Homecoming, and 5,000 people witnessed it. Among that crowd were upwards of 500 Lawrence students and Appleton townspeople who accompanied the Blue Aces on their tour of invasion.

It was a game long to be remembered—replete with thrills, yet unsatisfactory since it left unsolved the puzzle of superiority.

Lawrence threatened dangerously to break the tie when, with but two minutes to play and the Blue on the ball on the Ripon 20-yard line, Briese was called back to attempt a placekick. The booted pigskin sailed prettily into the air, straight for the goal posts, but, as it neared them, a puff of wind veered it from its course and it struck the outside post to bound away. Ripon immediately punted out of danger and the game ended with the ball in mid-field.

The team which Catlin put on the field showed a complete reversal of its poor form against Coe and fought like demons throughout.

They held stubbornly on defense and drove for every ounce of effort and ability within them on offense. Ripon showed the characteristic fight they always display against Lawrence and, in this quarter, had a slight edge.

The second quarter was an even break, but in the first and fourth periods the advantage was to the Blue.

Lawrence was handicapped by the absence of Nason, stellar backfield performer, who was on the sidelines nursing an injured ankle, sustained in practice last week. His loss was felt the more keenly in that his "golden boot" might have been the factor to bring victory on the three occasions the locals took chances for kicks from the field.

The Catlinmen kicked off at the opening of the contest and almost on the first play brought back a block punt of the Riponites. The situation was dangerous for the Crimson. It looked as though the charging Lawrentians, suddenly within the shadow of the goal posts, would drive over for a touchdown almost before the game was started. However, a fumble in the backfield picked it up. Stamm was immediately called back to punt. Heideman caught the kick and returned it to the 40-yard line.

The balance of the first period was largely an exchange of punts, each team fearing to attempt any other offensive measure too early in the contest. The veteran Stamm was doing the punting for the home eleven, while Jessup was being called from his wing place to do the kicking for the Lawrentians. Jessup's punting throughout the game was pretty and compared evenly with the kicks of his rival. He averaged 50 yards on his punts and filled admirably a need that has been apparent in the Lawrence machine so far this season.

Ripon made two first downs toward the close of the period when Bahrs, Thomas and Murchie bombarded the Blue forward wall for several gains. Lawrence had some chance to score in this period when Jessup blocked a Ripon punt and Ott recovered the oval. Barfell made three yards through the line on the next play and a pass, Bloomer to Briese, failed. The later was then called back and attempted a place kick from the 35-yard line, but it was not successful.

The second period started off discouragingly for the Blue. Heidman fumbled on his 45-yard line and Clifton recovered for the Crimson. An exchange of punts brought the oval to the Lawrence 40-yard line from where Murchie attempted a drop-kick. The ball went wide of the goal posts by a narrow margin. For a moment it looked as if the Blue might hit a scoring stride when Hipke grabbed a pass off the finger-tips of Magoun and raced ten yards toward his goal-line before he was downed. Lawrence was unable, however, to make its yardage and was forced to punt. The drama was repeated a few minutes later when Barfell intercepted a Ripon pass on the 40-yard line. Briese went around left end for a gain of 18 yards on the next play, one of the prettiest runs of the game, giving the Blue, its initial first down. But the drive was too late for the first half whistle blew right after.

The third period was an exciting one for the Lawrentian fan to witness. Four times in this period the Ripon offensive carried itself within scoring distance and Murchie dropped back to attempt a drop kick. He was unable to lift the ball between the posts. Except for the opening minutes, the quarter was entirely Ripon's. Bloomer clicked off a run for a 17-yard gain to give Lawrence its second first down but his advantage was lost on the next play when Bahrs intercepted a pass from Bloomer's hands and gave Ripon the ball. An exchange of punts following each attempted drop kick, all of which were from the proximity of the 35-yard line, gave the Crimson its successive chances to try kicks for score. The quarter closed with Lawrence on the ball at its own 42-yard line.

On the opening play of the final period, Hunter playing in Heideman's backfield berth, made a two-yard gain and then Briese sped in around wing for a gain of 19 yards. Lawrence made, in succession, three first downs and the ball was on the 20-yard line. Briese then attempted a place kick, which also failed. Followed an exchange of punts, a pretty run which netted Murchie of Ripon 10 yards, another Ripon punt, and Lawrence was again on the ball in Ripon territory. Briese and Bloomer made successive gains for first down. Then Briese gained 9 yards on a drive through the line. On the next play he was held. The ball was on the 20-yard line. Three minutes remained before the end of the contest. Briese dropped back for the place kick. Three inches more to the right and it would have sailed neatly over the bar and between the upright posts to give the Blue a victory.

The first thing to be noted of the Blue line up was the team-work displayed. For the first time since the Marquette game, the eleven Blue-clad gridmen looked like an effective machine, both on offense and defense. Timen the work of Captain Counsell, Hipke, and Jessup in the line and Bloomer and Briese in the backfield. Counsell broke through the Ripon line repeatedly to nall a Crimson runner from the back while Jessup's work at end was the prettiest performed by a Lawrence wing-man this season.

For Ripon, the outstanding workman was Murchie, who almost alone was the Crimson offense. He must have carried the Ripon ball three-fourths of the time, with Bahrs and Thomas dividing the last quarter. On the defense, in backing up his line, Bahrs did some unusually fine work and also made several splendid gains through the line. In the Ripon forward wall, Stamm, Hauser and Burns carried the brunt of the battle.

Play in the final period of the encounter was made the more difficult by the falling of rain. Field and ball became a bit slippery. Just as the whistle blew the drizzle changed into a steady down-pour.

FOREIGN TRAFFIC IN WISCONSIN HAS MORE THAN TREBLED

Tourist Business in Past Season Shows Largest Increase

Foreign car traffic in Wisconsin during the past five years has increased slightly more than 350 per cent and represents an expenditure within the state boundaries of $150,000,000, according to a letter sent out by the Land O' Lakes Association.

The tourist business in the state has increased this past season over any previous year as shown by the first five counts of the State Highway Commission as compared to a similar count during 1925, at the same stations.

In application to Outagamie-co a paradox was produced. It was pointed out, when the counts made at state trunk highway 15 and Lemnawash showed a decrease in actual traffic but an increase in tourist business. This was ascribed to the fact that county residents are using other highways and laterals as road construction progresses, whereas the tourist is confined to a regular route through the fact that he has neither time nor inclination to attempt unknown detours.

The state count for 1926 shows a total of 123,599 foreign cars passing through Wisconsin as against 112,169 in 1925. Effort was made to establish the checks on corresponding dates as follows, 1926, June 16, 10,768; July 4, 41,735; July 14, 17,743; July 25, 32,267; and Aug. 4, 21,336.

For 1925 the count was June, 17, 9,455; July 4, 40,153; July 15, 15,095; July 26, 25,062; and Aug. 5, 18,412.

The association, which has been consistently advertising the recreational possibilities of the state is believed to have played a major role in bringing about this great increase in foreign car traffic.

An annual meeting of the association was called for Friday at Wisconsin Rapids, it was announced.

BEST STORY ESSAYS ARE DUE ON TUESDAY

High School Students Compete for Prizes Offered by Post-Crescent

Essays for the Post-Crescent news story contest will be due on Tuesday at Appleton high school. Students at the school may compete for the cash prize of $2.50 offered each week to the best essay written on the story having the greatest local interest published in the Post-Crescent from Monday through Saturday's issues.

The judges decisions will be based on the effect of the Post-Crescent story selected on local conditions, on the quality of the reasons cited by the writer for choosing the story, and on his technical ability as a writer.

The winning essay and the composition judged worthy of honorable mention will be published in the Thursday issue of the Post-Crescent each week. The entries are due each Tuesday and they will be judged on Wednesday by H. H. Hebble.

EXPECT AMUNDSON BACK FROM WEST ON NOV. 1

County Agent Robert Amundson will return to Appleton on Nov. 1, after completing a journey to the Pacific coast to contract for cabbage seed for the Outagamie-co Cabbage Growers' Association for 1927, it was reported Saturday.

The county agent left 10 days ago and arranged his routes so that he could make a cursory survey of general farm conditions through the mid-west and mountain states.

On his way back Mr. Amundson intends to stop for two days at Madison where he will attend the annual state conference of county agents at Madison on Oct. 29 and 30.

principal, Miss Adele Klumb, head of the English department, and a member of the Post-Crescent staff.

I five or more essays are believed to be of first and equal value, each will receive the prize offered, and each will be published in the Thursday paper.

The length of the compositions will be limited to 250 words, and the name of the contestant will be omitted from the essay. Names of writers will be placed in a sealed envelope and these will not be opened until after the judges have met.

NOTICE OF GENERAL ELECTION

STATE OF WISCONSIN,
County of Outagamie,—SS.
Office of County Clerk, October 14, 1926.

TO THE ELECTORS OF OUTAGAMIE COUNTY:

Notice is hereby given that a general election is to be held in the several towns, wards, villages, and election precincts in the county of Outagamie, on the 2nd day of November, 1926, at which the officers named below are to be chosen. The names of the candidates for each office to be voted for, whose nominations have been certified to or filed in this office, are given under the title of the office and under the appropriate party or other designation, each in its proper column, together with the question submitted to a vote, in the sample ballot below.

INFORMATION TO VOTERS

The following instructions are given for the information and guidance of voters:

(a) A voter upon entering the polling place and giving his name and residence, will receive a ballot from the ballot clerk which must have indorsed thereon the names or initials of both ballot clerks, and no other ballot can be used. Upon receiving his ballot, the voter must retire alone to a booth or compartment and prepare the same for voting. A ballot clerk may inform the voter as to the proper manner of marking a ballot, but he must not advise or indicate in any manner whom to vote for.

(b) If a voter wishes to vote for all the candidates nominated by any party he shall make a cross (X) or other mark under the party designation printed at the top of the ballot in the circle made for that purpose. A ballot so marked and having no other mark will be counted for all the candidates of that party in the column underneath, unless the names of some of the candidates of the party have been erased or a name shall be written in or a cross mark be placed in the square at the right of the name or names of candidates in another column. If the voter does not wish to vote for all the candidates nominated by one party, he shall mark his ballot by making a cross or mark in the square at the right of the name of the candidate for whom he intends to vote, or by inserting or writing in the name of the candidate.

(c) A voter may vote for an entire group of candidates for presidential electors by making a cross (X) or mark in the circle (O) under the party designation at the head of the party column, or he may vote for the candidates for presidential electors by making a cross (X) or mark in the square at the right of the name of each candidate for whom he wishes to vote. If a voter does not wish to vote for any one or more candidates for presidential electors in the group, he may erase the name of such candidate or candidates and may write in the space provided therefor, the names or names of the person or persons whom he desires to vote, and the cross (X) or mark in the circle (O) at the head of the party column shall count as a vote for each of the candidates in such column. If a voter does not wish to vote for any candidates for president or vice president, or for any presidential electors, whose names appear upon the ballot, he may insert or write in the names of the candidates for president and vice president, and presidential electors to a number equal to the number of electors to be elected, in the appropriate spaces in the blank column at the right of the ballot.

(d) A voter may vote upon a question submitted to a vote of the people by making a cross (X) or mark in the square at the right of the answer which he intends to give.

(e) The ballot should not be marked in any other manner. If the ballot be spoiled, it must be returned to the ballot clerk, who must issue another in its stead, but not more than three in all shall be issued to any one voter. Five minutes' time is allowed in booth to mark ballot. Unofficial ballots or memorandums to assist the voter in marking his ballot can be taken into the booth, and may be used to copy from. The ballot must not be shown so that any person can see how it has been marked by the voter.

(f) After it is marked it should be folded so that the inside cannot be seen, but so that the printed indorsements and signatures of the ballot clerks on the outside may be seen. Then the voter should pass out of the booth or compartment, give his name to the inspector in charge of the ballot box, hand him his ballot to be placed in the box, and pass out of the voting place.

(g) A voter, who declares to the presiding officer that he is unable to read, or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot, can have assistance of two election officers, in marking same, to be chosen by the voter; and if he declares that he is totally blind, he may be assisted by any person chosen by him from among the legal voters of the county. The presiding officer may administer an oath in his discretion, as to such person's disability.

(h) The following is a facsimile of the official ballot:

JOHN E. HANTSCHER, County Clerk.

SAMPLE OFFICIAL BALLOT

If you desire to vote for an entire party ticket for state, congressional, legislative and county offices make a cross (X) or other mark in the circle (O) under the party designation at the head of the ballot. If you desire to vote for particular persons without regard to party, mark in the square at the right of the name of the candidate for whom you desire to vote, if it be there, or write any name you wish to vote for in the proper place.

The FIRST and ONLY Cast-Aluminum Tub

THE MAYTAG is the only washer with a cast-aluminum tub—the tub that is life-lasting because it will not rust, rot, corrode, split, warp or break. The tub that keeps water hot for an entire washing. The tub that drains and cleans itself in 30 seconds after the washing is done.

The Maytag Company was quick to recognize the value of cast-aluminum for building a tub of outstanding advantages. In the unique design of the Maytag tub, that is so scientifically-shaped that it adds greatly to the turbulent water-action produced by the Maytag gyrator, lies the secret of the Maytag's cleaner washing.

A continuously-agitated water-action in every inch of the tub all of the time. No idle water! Every particle of soap continuously at work! No waste motion—economical and efficient—no wear and tear on the finest fabrics!

411 EXAMINED AT HEALTH CENTER AT WAUPACA IN YEAR

139 Families Represented in Work Provided Under Federal Bill

Special to Post-Crescent
Waupaca—The first year's work of the maternity and infant health center held at the city hall here, under the provisions of the Huppar-Tourer bill was closed Oct. 20. A total of 411 patients were received and examined at the maternity and infant health center in the thirteen meetings of the first year's work. This number represented 139 families. These clinics will be continued in the future. Data for next center meeting to be published as soon as schedule can be made.

Mrs. Alden Looker and Mrs. Clifford Devereaux and children of Oshkosh, are visiting relatives in the city.

Mrs. A. E. Jensen and daughter and son Ernest of Iowa, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Jorgensen Friday.

The superintendent and teachers of Waupaca rural schools held their first group meeting Saturday for all of the beginning teachers, twenty-seven in number, at the following places: Constance school, town of Waupaca, O. COMMISSION WILL APPOINT NEW CHIEF

Successor to Former Fire Chief Rogers Will Be Named Monday

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—At a special meeting of the Fire and Police commission on Monday action on the appointment of a fire chief to succeed Charles A. Rogers, resigned will be taken. Prior to this meeting it was stated commission that the board would appoint any member tentatively elected by members of the fire squad, and it would follow as a natural consequence that C. J. Dean, the member elected by the majority vote, will be permanently elected to the post.

Members of the Fire and Police commission include Frank Jennings, president, Peter Dernbach, secretary, C. D. Feathers, A. L. Haase and William Vid.

Local firemen have had only one call since August, and that was turned in Thursday morning. A fire was discovered in the rafters of the Henry Huntly home, but the flames were extinguished with a damage of about $150. One of the fire engines has been used during the past week in pumping river water on to the sand used for filling the floor space inside the foundations at the Menzie shoe factory site. In this way the sand was settled in preparation for the pouring of cement which will begin soon.

PETTY THIEVERY AGAIN UNCOVERED

Rifle and Ammunition Is Stolen from Display Window of Gun Shop

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Petty thieves are still manuevering through the nightly hours in New London, the aim of their prowess seemingly in keeping with the season. Attracted by the sight of local hunters marching forth to the haunts of wild game birds, some victim of the hunting spirit provided himself with a gun and ammunition by breaking through the front display window of A. H. Arndt's bicycle and gun shop Friday night. A new 22 rifle and an adequate amount of ammunition was all that was taken, showing that the sole purpose of the marauders' escapade was doubtless a "good game feed."

No trace of the party or parties has been found.

STREET DEPARTMENT HAS MANY JOBS LEFT
Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Street Commissioner Albert Gesse recently stated that streets improvement work still continues. Gravel and filling material are still being hauled to the shoe factory site, from Mosquito Hill and sand from the Peterson pit on the cemetery road. Streets are being leveled.

Filling is now being hauled to the swampland between the factory and the new road. This land belongs to the factory and it is expected that when the construction is completed this space will be grassed and planted.

NEW LONDON GRIDDERS SWAMP MANAWA SCHOOL

Special to Post-Crescent

New London—The football game played here Saturday between New London and Manawa high schools resulted in a walk away for the local high, 44-0. New London made all its touchdowns in the first three quarters, the second team finishing the game. Forward passes were impossible because of the wet field, New London scoring on line smashes and off tackle plays. Carver, Werner, Seims, Lang and Griswold starred for the locale.

School spirit was aroused in the day evening. The school completed the demonstration held on the streets Friday block line of snake dancers, traffic was held up and the entire town turned over to the students during the time that they covered the business district and main streets.

holes filled in preparation for winter travel and a new bridge floor is to be laid on one of the mill yard bridges before the season's work is ended. Two weeks of gravel hauling and one of sand hauling will complete the work at the Menzie factory site, and before the autumn's work is entirely completed the new road continuing Worl River-ave on to its connection with the Northport road will be graveled.

Filling is now being hauled to the swampland between the factory and the new road. This land belongs to the factory and it is expected that when the construction is completed this space will be grassed and planted.

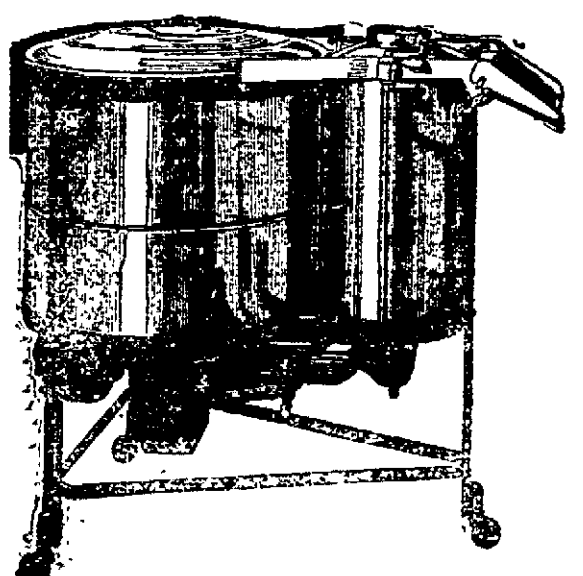

Local Man Says Dreco Woke His Liver Up From A Four Year Nap
good I was mighty slow in trying Dreco but I finally started on it and now I am glad to say my liver is awake and on the job again and I feel fine in every respect. I'm no longer troubled with constipation, headaches, or indigestion, my tongue has cleared up nicely, my breath is O. K. and the foul nasty taste has left my mouth. My appetite has improved, I sleep better and, in fact, feel better in every way."

To those persons who suffer from headaches, gastritis, nervousness, constipation, poor sleep, weak kidneys, lazy liver, a deranged stomach or impure slow, flowing blood, Dreco will prove a wonder to you. Try it today and see how quick the results will come.

Mr. Marr Baker, the well-known Dreco Expert from the Dreco Laboratories now at Schlintz Bros. downtown drug store, is telling scores of people every day how to take Dreco for best results. Go to see him. His advice is free.

The New EASY
Washer

SPEED WITH EASE

When you see the New Easy speed the clothes from basket to line, you'll say you never really knew what it meant to do a quick washing before.

The New Easy takes no harmful shortcut to cleanliness. It gains its swiftness by doing two things at once — washing and drying. Eight double sheets, or the equal in other clothes, are dried at one time, while eight more sheets are being washed. Two things are done at once—a double quantity of clothes handled at one time.

That is how the New Easy does a complete washing in half the time, without venturing out the clothes or firing you. If you used your own careful hands and took hours of time, you couldn't wash the clothes as gently as the Easy's famous Vacuum Cups, or dry them as gently as the Easy's marvelous new dryer. The Easy's dryer never breaks buttons or tears them off. It never puts wrinkles in clothes—ironing is far easier.

WATER HANDLED FOR YOU

A marvelous new water-circulating system takes the suds, the rinse water, and the blue water as each in turn is spun from the clothes in the dryer, and returns them to the proper tub. When you're through washing, this water-circulating system empties the washer for you into the sink or drain. Doesn't that sound wonderful?

Free! One Week's Washing!

Phone us tomorrow and arrange to let us send you the Easy to try in your own home. Try the New Easy and convince yourself that it's the best in washers on the market today. Let us show you the hundreds of satisfied users in Appleton.

don't mean so much—

—There's a feeling of security in tying up to something you know is absolutely right—

These are "synthetic" days, days when so many things are not as represented. These are days of "labels" and other outward signs, when things look good but fall flat when given the acid test.

These are days recording a mushroom growth in filling stations. Gasoline and motor oil can be purchased most anywhere. Drive where you will, you are continually reminded of the sterling qualities of this and that gasoline and so and so's motor oil.

Like the small boy who takes the traffic officer's hand at the street intersection and steps out with glowing pride and utterly devoid of fear—people of this community who own motor cars, have the same absolute confidence in the quality of De Bauffer Perfect Power Products.

They know when they drive up to De Bauffer Pumps, the Orange Colored ones, that they are going to have Tested Gasoline pumped into the tanks and when De Bauffer Motor Oil goes into the crank cases of their cars—they are Guaranteed that it is 100% Pure Pennsylvania Oil, Permit No. 402.

BELOIT LOSES CLOSE STRUGGLE TO KNOX

Galesburg, Ill.—Beloit lost a hard-fought battle to Knox on Saturday, 6 to 0, before a large crowd of Sioux Falls, Minn. fans. The game was played in a drizzling rain which hampered the Beloit passing attack and slowed up the play of both teams.

Knox scored the only touchdown of the contest in the first quarter, when Thompson, 140-pound halfback, broke loose on an end run and dashed 20 yards for a score. Sheehan's dropkick attempt for the extra point was wide.

During the remainder of the contest the two teams battled on even terms with Knox fighting a defensive battle and Beloit unloading an aerial attack which threatened the Sioux Falls goal on three occasions. Each time, however, the drive when passes were intercepted, and once when Capt. Grady's pass grounded on the 10-yard line.

Knox after its touchdown early in the opening period, threatened to score on three occasions, when offensive drives carried the ball within the 25-yard line and once in the last quarter to the 18-yard line. Each time the Beloit line held. Sheehan's three attempts at dropkicks went wild.

SOPH GRIDDERS MAKE GRADE IN CONFERENCE

This is a big year for sophomore stars in the Big Ten. Virtually every team in the conference boasts at least one new sensation.

At Ohio state, for instance, you'll find Byron Eddy ("a second Chick Harney") and against Michigan, Earl Hink at Michigan, there's George Rich, a fast, aggressive back, also Paul Cook, Illinois appears to have a future great in "Frosty" Peters. Zuppke is counting considerably on Jake Lanum, a versatile back.

Minnesota offers "Barnie" Barnhart, a mite back who can run, pass and kick. Against Michigan, Barnhart was one of the Gophers' outstanding celebrities. The tot should be a wonder ere he winds up his college career.

KEN WILLIAMS SLATED FOR TRIP TO MINORS

Ken Williams, who vied with Babe Ruth in home run honors a year or two back, is said to be slated for a trip to the minors, regardless of who manages the St. Louis Browns next season.

HI-Y CLUB WILL HOLD ITS PARTY ON SATURDAY

Saturday evening was set for the date of the Halloween party of the Hi-Y club at a meeting of the executive committee last Saturday at the Y. M. C. A. The committee decided to sponsor the party which will be held at the association building. Halloween stunts and games and a ghost walk will feature the program. The Pioneers, who were scheduled to hold their Halloween program Saturday evening, changed their date to Sunday evening. Saturday afternoon the Friendly Indians will hold their party.

PUNISHMENT WARNING SAVES LAMPS ON BRIDGE

Vandals have caused shooting at the ornamental lights on the Cherry-st bridge, according to R. F. Hark, street commissioner, since the posting of signs telling of a $25 fine for such an act. The offenders were said to be young men with rifles who would shoot at the lights on the railroad tracks beneath the bridge. Several globes were broken each week until the posting of the signs and since that time there has been no more trouble.

WATERMAN HOLDING GLEE CLUB TRYOUTS

Try-outs for the Lawrence college glee club were started last week under the direction of Carl J. Waterman, dean of the conservatory, and continued throughout this week, it was announced. The list of eliminations have been made. About 60 men have attempted the tryouts, and it was expected that several more will appear this week.

ASKS $5,000 FROM HOST FOR INJURIES IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Boys of Appleton who won the baseball championship by defeating the Washington Senators pitcher, in the recent treasure hunt conducted by the Post-Crescent and Y. M. C. A., are writing letters to Johnson this week thanking him for the balls. Another graphed picture he sent to the local association will be mailed this week. This letter expresses the hope that Walter will remain in the game for many years. It will be signed by dozens of Appleton boys, members of the boys' division of the association.

Kaukauna Man Wants Damages from Man Who Was Taking Him for Ride

With an imposing battery of legal talent a personal injury case growing out of an accident on state trunk highway 15 on Easter Sunday, 1925, opened before Judge Theodore Berg in circuit court Monday morning.

William Haag, John Guilloffe, both of Kaukauna, for $5,000 damages. Testimony revealed that on that day Mr. Haag asserts he was a passenger, or guest, in the Guilloffe car and declares that he was severely injured when the machine left the road and struck a telephone pole.

SCHOOL NURSE IS GIVEN ASSISTANT

Committee Selects Miss Jane Barclay to Work with Miss Orison

Miss Jane Barclay was recommended as assistant school nurse at a meeting of the educational committee of the board of education Friday evening. The committee was authorized to secure an assistant for Miss Mary Orison, school nurse, by the board at its October meeting. Miss Barclay's work will start Nov. 1.

After being graduated from St. Luke hospital in Chicago, Miss Barclay held several positions in hospitals, including charge of a department at St. Luke hospital, and did private duty nursing. She was school nurse for the First and Second districts for two years about seven years ago.

The Vocational school board was granted the use of classrooms in the Appleton high school building for academic classes in the evening school. Herb Heilig, director of the school, presented the matter at the monthly meeting of the board of education, and after a discussion it was left to the educational committee for decision.

Mr. Heilig and Ben J. Rohan, superintendent of schools were appointed by the committee to work out a plan of regulations. The enrollment at the evening school was too large this year to be accommodated at the school.

BECHER SPEAKS TO 200 IN STEPHENSVILLE HALL

Carl J. Becher, candidate for clerk of circuit and municipal courts Sunday evening, addressed an audience of more than 200 persons in the auditorium at Stephenville in behalf of his candidacy at the general election on the independent ticket. Mr. Becher gave a resume of his experience as a worker in the paper mills and his later graduation from the ranks of his acquaintances. The candidate emphasized the discrepancies found during the recount of votes cast in the primary.

The candidate was the only speaker and was allowed the floor by the management before the regular Sunday night motion picture was shown.

ASK POLICE TO STOP VANDALISM AT SCHOOL

Destruction of Appleton high school property will be stopped by police intervention, if it can be done in no other way, H. H. Heilig, principal of the school, said Monday. A police guard probably will be stationed at the school during the night in the future to see that the property is not damaged. It was said that any individuals found loitering around the school will be arrested the principal stated.

Twice in the last two weeks the rope on the flag pole has been cut, and necessitated the purchase of new ropes by the school, and Sunday night a flag was placed on the top of the pole.

THREE MORE GUARDSMEN QUALIFY WITH RIFLES

Three members of Co. D, 127th Infantry, Wisconsin National Guard, qualified as sharpshooters and marksmen Sunday at a record qualification rifle shoot at the company outdoor range. The qualifiers were Corporal Roy Anderson, who won a sharpshooter badge, and Private William Groth and Lieutenant Edward Piette, marksmen. A qualification shoot was scheduled for Saturday but it was postponed by rain.

Corp. Anderson qualified for sharpshooter with a score of 84.5, just below the mark necessary to become an expert marksman. Private Groth scored 76.5 and Lieut. Piette, 74.5. Next Saturday and Sunday are the last days in which the guardsmen can qualify for badges. Captain E. F. Grundman hopes to get a large group out if the weather is good.

HIGH SCHOOL HAS MORE "PEP" THAN LAWRENCE

Student "pep" at Lawrence college is less than at Appleton high school, Mark S. Catlin, coach of the college team said in a talk before the high school students at a general assembly meeting Friday afternoon. The coach said that the high school athletes and was a part of a program planned to arouse student enthusiasm for the football game between the West Green Bay high school and Appleton Saturday.

Aloysius Gage, president of the class, presided at the meeting, which was in charge of the junior class. The class band and played and the junior student committee gave a program of acts preparatory to the game.

BOYS THANK JOHNSON FOR HIS KINDNESS

Boys of Appleton who won the baseball championship by defeating the Washington Senators pitcher, in the recent treasure hunt conducted by the Post-Crescent and Y. M. C. A., are writing letters to Johnson this week thanking him for the balls. Another graphed picture he sent to the local association will be mailed this week. Stranded Woman Appeals To Judge To Find Home

Left homeless and destitute when the family with whom she had been living left the state an aged woman Monday morning laid her appeal for human understanding and a possible home before Judge Fred V. Heinemann in county court.

The woman, it was pointed out, is able to do light general housework, can cook, and is seeking a home where possibly her services can be used and where she might earn enough money to supply the necessities of life.

Still within the age where the law can do nothing in granting her an old age pension—never having been married and with no relatives living—the elderly woman is stranded in Appleton and apparently has no one to whom she can turn for assistance. Judge Heinemann said.

REGISTER TUESDAY AT POLLING PLACES FOR FALL ELECTION

Polls Open from 9 O'clock in Morning to 8 O'clock at Night

Registration day for the regular fall election on Tuesday, Oct. 26, E. L. Williams, city clerk, announced Monday. The polling places will open at 9 o'clock the morning and close at 8 o'clock in the evening.

All persons who failed to vote at the primary or who did not register on the registration day a week before the primary should register Tuesday if they know their names or not on the polling lists, according to Mr. Williams. Those who did register at the last registration day but did not vote need not repeat the procedure Tuesday.

The polling place in the first precinct of the Second ward has been changed from 10th N. Kurke-st to the corner of 10th and Washington-st. All other places are at the same locations.

Persons desiring to register on Tuesday may do so at the following places: First ward—first precinct, First ward school, Franklin-st; second precinct, Store building, 222 E. College-ave.

Second ward—first precinct, Armour's second precinct, basement city hall, S. Oneid-st. Third ward—first precinct, R. Garage, 527 W. College-ave; second precinct, corner Spencer and Outagamie-st.

Fourth ward—first precinct, Maple Grove and Walter-ave; second precinct, Fourth ward school. Fifth ward—first precinct, Public Service building, stock fair grounds; second precinct, corner Richmond and Washington-st.

Sixth ward—first precinct, 229 E. Commercial-st; second precinct, 508 N. Appleton-st.

BOARD GIVES WIG WAG SYSTEM FURTHER STUDY

Proposed installation of traffic light signals to replace the wig wag now in use at the corner of W. College-ave and Cherry-st was given further consideration Monday afternoon by the board of public works meeting at the city hall. The matter was introduced at the last meeting of the common council last week and referred to the board, the city attorney and officials of the Northwestern railroad.

The wig wag does not provide maximum safety at the crossing, and their location in the middle of the street provides another element of danger, it is contended by a number of city officials. Whether the change will be made will in all probability depend upon the recommendation the board makes to the council.

REALTY TRANSFERS

The following transfers of county and city real estate were filed with Albert G. Koch, register of deeds, on Saturday: Herman Kroll, Clintonville, to Fred H. SCHIPA HAS MET SUCCESS IN EVERY PLACE HE VISITED

Famous Lyric Tenor Will Sing
Interesting Program in Appleton

Famous the world over is the lyric tenor, Tito Schipa, who will sing at the Lawrence Memorial chapel Tuesday evening. He has met success in every city where he has appeared either in concert or in opera.

Last season he made an extended concert tour through the United States and a second tour to the Pacific coast, and also a brilliant series of appearances with the Chicago Civic Opera company. In addition, he sang with the San Francisco Opera company and the Ravinia Park company during its summer season of opera.

Programs arranged by the tenor have a universal appeal. The English songs pleasing to the American public and the arias in foreign languages pleasing to the educated musician are included. Schipa believes that the words are as important to the appreciation of a song as the melody, and he attempts to make at least a part of each program entirely intelligible to all of his audience.

The numbers to be sung at his Appleton appearance will be:

Amarilli—Caccini; Nina—Pergolesi; Manon, (The Dream)—Mussenet; by Schipa.

Scherzo—Chopin; by Jose Echaniz, pianist.

Ave Maria—Schipa; At Parting—Rogers; Suzanne—Paderini; by Schipa.

Princesita — Padilla; Harlequin's Serenade (Pagliacci)—Leoncavallo; Chi se nne scorda celiu—Barthelemy; by Schipa.

Capriccio—Schipa; Viva Navarra—Larregia-Echaniz; by M. Echaniz. Nina, Querida—Buzzi-Peccia; Ay, Ay!—Perez-Freire; Elisir d'Amore—Donizetti; by Schipa.

CORBETT IS QUOTED IN ADVERTISING CIRCULAR

Comments recently made by Hugh G. Corbett, general secretary Appleton Chamber of Commerce, about a new book, "The Financing of Social Work," by A. W. Procter and A. A. Schuck, are included in an advertising circular which the publishing firm has issued for distribution among chambers of commerce secretaries.

The circulars, prepared by Thomas S. Rockwell, director book division, were issued shortly after Mr. Corbett had visited Rockwell. In telling of the conversation between them, the circular quotes Mr. Corbett as saying: "Mr. Rockwell, I've been looking for a book like this for 15 years. It's just what I need in my work."

Procter, one of the authors, is a staff member of the president's commission on economy and efficiency, and Schuck, the other author, is assistant national field director of the Boy Scouts of America and an advisor on finance.

SCHIPA AND HIS PROTEGE

Tito Schipa, the famous lyric tenor, on his return from Italy, brought with him a bellhop protégé that he hopes some day will be one of the world's greatest singers. Schipa has undertaken to teach the boy, now 15, and some day perhaps will send him back to Italy to complete his education. The picture shows him with his protegee on board the ship that brought them to America.

NOT A SERIOUS WRECK REPORTED TO POLICE

The weekend, for the first time in several weeks passed without an accident in Appleton of sufficient note to be reported to police, records showed

Monday morning. Unofficial reports indicated that only two collisions happened here over Sunday. Slight damage to the cars resulted but "roadside equity" prevailed and the principals settled among themselves, police said.

LIBRARY ON PAPER MAKING PLANNED BY INDUSTRY SCHOOL

State Department of Vocational Education to Aid in Financing Project

With the cooperation of the state department of vocational education, the Board of Industrial Education of the Appleton Vocational school is to establish a Paper Mill library for the use of those men who study in the paper and pulp making courses to be offered at the local school. All money paid for books in this library is to be refunded to the Appleton board by the federal department of vocational education, according to Herb Heilig, director.

Several of the valley paper mills have complete files of the back numbers of technical paper magazines and these lists may be donated to the library. Technical books will be bought during the winter as the men in the various classes need them. The approximate cost of this library is to be about $1,000, the nucleus of which will be formed of books purchased during the coming winter and the files of technical magazines which are to be given to the library by the paper mills.

Preliminary work on the library is to be done by H. G. Noyes, who is in charge of the classes in paper and pulp making which are being offered in the Vocational schools at Kaukauna, Neenah, Menasha and Appleton. Mr. Noyes spent an entire year in the valley making a survey of conditions to determine whether or not offering paper and pulp making classes would be profitable. Mr. Noyes is a paper making expert from Maine.

A valuable aid to the courses to be offered in the various schools is the use of the Paper Technical Library of the Kimberly Clark Paper company at Kimberly. Arthur McArthur, director of education of that company, has spent the past three years in organizing this library and has offered the use of any of its facilities to the pupils in this department, according to Mr. Heilig.

The books and files of the local library will be indexed and formed into a complete library system which will be installed at the Appleton Vocational school. The commercial department, under the direction of Mr. Noyes, will do the indexing and installing.

Marriage Licenses

Herbert Voeks has filed application for a license to marry Sada Lecker, it was reported at the office of County Clerk John E. Hantschel. Both live in Appleton.

HONOR STUDENTS ARE INCREASING, RECORDS INDICATE

Twice as Many Are on Honor Roll for First Quarter at High School

More than twice as many students were listed on the honor roll of Appleton high school for the first quarter of the first semester of 1925 and 1927 than for the same term last year, it was announced at the school Wednesday. Forty-three students received high scholastic standings, for the first six weeks term this year, while only 19 were honored last fall, and 24 during the first quarter of the second semester of 1925 and 1926.

A slightly larger enrollment is registered at the school this year, there being about one twelfth more students than in the previous school year, the principal stated, but this increase was not large enough to account for the increase in the honor roll. The directed study methods used at the school this year are the chief reasons for the increase, the principal believed.

The junior class lead in numbers with 19 honor students, the sophomores were second with 15, and the seniors third with 9.

Students doing excellent or "A" work in the first quarter were seniors: Jean Cannon, Gerana Gehl, Alice Getschow, Martha Weigt; Juniors: Theodore Bolton, Zora Colburn, Aloysius Gage, Lynn Handeyside, Juanita Hansen, Emeline Mathews, Percy Menning, Ethel Perrine, Arnold Sieg, Evelyn Stallman and Clarence Voss; sophomores, Veronica Becker, Irida Harm, Annette Heller.

Twenty-five students were listed as doing very good or "B" work: seniors, Russell Denyes, Martha Jentz, Marie Sanem, Ethel Stallman, Helen Werner Juniors, Ruth Brandt, Agnes Glasnap, Donald McMahon, Clarence Miller, Lucella Paessler, Viola Schlamm, Bernice Schmiede, Merton Zahrt; sophomores, Dale Clifford, Margaret Crabb, Jean Drysdale, Robert Elias, Jean Embrey, Mildred Koehnke, Robert Mader, Esther Merkl, Lawrence Morris, Jean Owen, Gertrude Schultz, Gladys Shangen.
